

State Funeral Planned For LBJ

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The body of former President Lyndon Baines Johnson will be flown to Washington to lie in state in the Capitol rotunda and receive the nation's final tribute.

Johnson, whose dreams of a Great Society were dampened by divisions at home over a war in Asia, died Monday of a heart attack at 64.

Johnson's coffin will be carried on a horse-drawn caisson in a procession to Capitol Hill Wednesday afternoon. A ceremony will be held in the rotunda.

Funeral services will be held Thursday in Washington's National City Christian Church, after which the body will be returned to Texas for burial in the family cemetery of the LBJ Ranch.

Before the body of the nation's 36th president is flown to Washington, it will lie in state from noon CST today until 8 a.m. Wednesday at the LBJ Library in Austin, Tex. There will be a full honor guard.

Johnson was pronounced dead at 5:43 p.m. EST Monday aboard his private plane at San Antonio International Airport.

The sudden attack ended a distinguished public career which saw Johnson rise from simple Texas roots to both houses of Congress, to the powerful post of Senate Democratic leader which earned him the reputation as a masterful politician, to the vice presidency and finally to the presidency after the assassination of John F. Kennedy in 1963.

As the first Southerner to hold the presidency since Andrew Johnson, his accomplishments in the domestic fields of civil rights, Social Security, education and housing were highly praised. He was credited with pushing through social programs Democrats had been trying to enact since the New Deal days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

When Johnson inherited the presidency, he inherited the war in Indochina. Following his election as chief executive in 1964 by a landslide margin, he greatly expanded the U.S. involvement in Indochina and opposition to the war mounted at home.

The war eventually was a major factor in his dramatic announcement in March of 1968 that he would not seek re-election.

On Monday, 51 minutes before he was pronounced dead, Secret Service agents responding to his pleas found Johnson slumped on the bedroom floor of his ranch in Johnson City and began a desperate 85-mile trip by air to Brooke Army Medical Center here in hopes of saving his life.

Col. L.R. Hieger, chief of pathology at Brooke, performed an autopsy on Johnson's body late Monday night and listed the official cause of death as coronary thrombosis.

Hieger's autopsy showed that the former president had severe coronary artery disease, with complete occlusion — closure — of two of three major arteries to the heart. A third artery was about 60 per cent occluded.

The former President had a history of heart trouble dating to 1955. He suffered what was termed as a major heart attack in April 1972 and was hospitalized with chest pains last July.

With him at death were three Secret Service agents, Dr. David J. Abbott of Johnson City, the plane's pilot and the wife of the foreman of the sprawling LBJ ranch, to which he retired after leaving the White House.

As Johnson was flown to San Antonio, his wife, Lady Bird, was contacted by radio telephone in a car about a block from the LBJ Library, about 80 miles from the family ranch. She immediately went by helicopter to San Antonio, arriving at Brooke hospital before her husband's body. A family spokesman said Mrs. Johnson had prepared breakfast for the former president before going to Austin on business. The spokesman quoted her as saying, "His health seemed no different than it had been recently. He seemed a bit quieter but was in good spirits."

After spending more than an hour in San Antonio, Mrs. Johnson returned to Austin and joined her daughter, Luci, and son-in-law, Patrick J. Nugent, for the return to the family ranch to discuss funeral arrangements.

The Johnson's other daughter, Lynda, and her husband, Charles S. Robb, made plans to fly to Texas from Charlottesville, Va., where Robb is a third-year law student at the University of Virginia. A plane was provided by President Nixon.

The news of Johnson's death drew immediate tributes from the White House, the halls of Congress and the streets of America.

Johnson's death came 28 days after that of former President Harry S. Truman, leaving the nation without a living former chief executive. Nixon ordered flags on all federal buildings, already lowered to mark Truman's death, flown at half staff for 30 days following Johnson's death.

At a news conference in Austin several hours after Johnson's death, Tom Johnson, a former business associate and news secretary not related to the family, gave this account of the seizure:

At 4:50 p.m. EST, Johnson, who routinely took a nap after lunch, called the ranch switchboard and asked that a Secret Service agent be sent to his bedroom. Agents Ed Nowland and Harry Harris dashed 100 yards from their quarters with a portable resuscitator. They arrived in about two minutes and began to treat the former president. The third agent, Mike Howard, arrived within minutes and the trio attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external heart massage.

"They found Johnson lying on his back, on the floor next to his bed," Tom Johnson said. "They said it appeared he was dead."

Unable to revive Johnson, the agents summoned Abbott and with Mrs. Dave Malachuk and pilot Barney Hewitt, they set out for San Antonio in the Johnson plane.

Abbott pronounced Johnson dead after the aircraft landed at San Antonio. The finding was confirmed aboard the plane by Dr. George McGranahan, who took over as Johnson's personal physician last July.

Viet Peace Meet Ends; Sides Mum

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger conferred with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho for 3 hours and 45 minutes today and then flew back to Washington, ending a negotiating session that the White House said was to complete a Vietnam peace agreement.

Kissinger and Tho emerged from their secret meeting and posed shaking hands in front of the International Conference Center on Avenue Kleber in sight of the Arc de Triomphe.

But they gave no indication whether the cease-fire agreement was now complete or whether further decisions were required from President Nixon or President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

It was noted, however, that official U.S. and North Vietnamese photographers were admitted to part of the session.

It was Kissinger's and Tho's first meeting there, their previous negotiations having been held in suburban villas with each acting as host alternately. Some observers concluded that the move was another indication that agreement was near.

There was no official word on whether a date has been set for signature of the agreement. Outgoing Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird hinted to newsmen in Washington Monday night that the text may be initialed Wednesday.

Kissinger returned to Paris Monday night and went into immediate conference with Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam of South Vietnam. They met again today before Kissinger's session with Tho.

Both Lam and the Viet Cong's foreign minister, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, were excluded from the secret talks between Kissinger and Tho.

Reports from Saigon said President Nguyen Van Thieu has approved the agreement in principle but may still have to be consulted on the final wording.

Technical experts of the United States and North Vietnam continued until almost midnight Monday night their drafting of the protocols or annexes which will prescribe in detail the operation of the agreement.

Their meeting at suburban St. Nom la Breteche lasted more than 13 hours, a record for the almost daily meetings that began soon after President Nixon stopped the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong on New Year's Eve.

Vietnam Shadow Cast Pall Over Johnson Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the beginning of Lyndon B. Johnson's presidency, Vietnam was a shadow on his horizon. At the end, it cast a pall ranging far across his administration.

"The strain of prolonged engagement in a distant war stirred deep controversy among our people," Johnson said later.

"The war created or deepened divisions—between the President and Congress, between 'doves' and 'hawks,' between generations..."

So it was in a Vietnam speech,

March 31, 1968, announcing a scaleback of the U.S. air assault on North Vietnam in a move to promote peace negotiations, that Johnson dropped his ultimate political bombshell:

"I shall not seek, and I will not accept, the nomination of my party for another term as your president."

Johnson's deep disappointment shows in his memoirs, "The Vantage Point." He wrote:

"I regretted more than anyone could possibly know that I was leaving the White House without having achieved a just, an honorable, and a lasting peace in Vietnam."

At the start, when Johnson stepped into office in November 1963 following John F. Kennedy's assassination, Vietnam admittedly was a difficulty. Kennedy had sent 16,000 U.S. troops there, largely under the label of advisers and technicians, Johnson was to swell the force to some 540,000.

In his first hours in the White House Johnson was briefed on foreign affairs. While South Vietnam "gave me real cause for concern," he recalled, "compared with later periods, even the situation in Vietnam at that point appeared to be relatively free from the pressure of immediate decisions."

In the presidential election the following year Johnson rated himself as a Vietnam "peace" candidate as against his more militantly anti-Communist Republican opponent, Barry Goldwater. Johnson won the election in a landslide.

Yet various plans already were under way within the administration, as the secret Pentagon papers later showed, for more forceful action in the Indochina conflict.

Sanford Eugene Larie, 26, Judith Faye England, 18, and the juvenile were taken into custody 4:05 a.m. Tuesday at the American Hotel, N. Court St., by Circleville Police Sgt. Larry Pontious and Captain Harris and Detective Cooke of the Chillicothe Police Department.

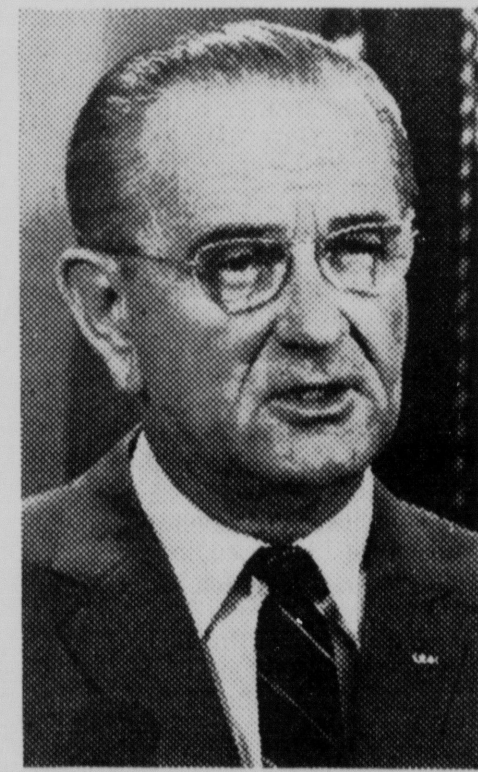

The local department received a report 11:50 p.m. Monday that the trio was making the rounds of Chillicothe bars cashing rolls of coins and were overheard talking about a safe robbery they had pulled.

City Ptl. Joe Stevenson and Ron Smith notified Sgt. Pontious and kept the trio under surveillance. Pontious, who recalled Chillicothe Police discussing a safe robbery at Mt. Logan School, notified them and the two officers were dispatched to Chillicothe.

The suspects were apprehended at the hotel and taken to the local station for interrogation where they admitted taking $645, mostly in coins, from the school safe.

Police recovered $63 in cash, a watch and ring taken in the burglary, a large amount of new clothing and an automobile purchased with the money.

The three were turned over to Chillicothe authorities where Larie and the juvenile will be charged with breaking and entering and the woman with receiving and concealing stolen property.

LYNDON B. JOHNSON

"No man had greater dreams for America than Lyndon Johnson," said Nixon of his predecessor in the White House. "Even as we mourn his death, we are grateful for his life, which did so much to make those dreams into realities."

In a refrain echoing through the appraisals by many of Johnson's associates, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said:

"As President, his brilliant leadership on the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965 have earned him a place in the history of civil rights alongside Abraham Lincoln."

"And his efforts to help the poor, the sick and the oppressed stand out as landmarks of America's concern for those too weak to help themselves."

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who coalesced antiwar forces behind his surprisingly strong challenge to Johnson's expected bid for re-nomination by the Democratic party in 1968, said of the dead president:

"If he was to be faulted, it was not for lack of dedication or lack of commitment, but for taking upon himself or to himself too much of the burden and of the responsibilities of government."

On March 31, 1968, Johnson shocked the nation with the announcement that he would neither seek nor accept renomination.

Johnson's vice president, Hubert H. Humphrey, reflected on that day:

"He and Lady Bird, Luci and her husband came up to our apartment. He said 'could I talk to you alone?' Then he told me what he was going to do. He said 'I've done everything I could to try and end the war. I've tried the Pope, I've tried the Russians, I've tried the Poles, the French ... I'm going to make another supreme effort. Hubert, I want peace in Vietnam more than anything.'"

But Humphrey recalled that Johnson believed he could not bring the warring parties into peace negotiations unless he withdrew from the campaign and purged the bid of any political taint.

Johnson's defense secretary, Robert S. McNamara, said:

"Whatever history's verdict may be on the Johnson role in Vietnam, I have no doubt that history will record

President Johnson's actions to redress the discriminations which had been suffered by the poor, the blacks and the disadvantaged as one of the most important advances by our society in this century."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, roundly defeated by Johnson in 1964, said: "The country has lost a great political leader, a dedicated American, and I have lost a friend, the memory of whose friendship I will forever cherish."

Reactions of shock and sadness—many coupled with praise — came from Ohio's political leaders almost immediately after the announcement that former President Lyndon Johnson had died of an apparent heart attack Monday.

Democrats and Republicans, alike, praised the last living ex-President, singling out his efforts in the area of social and civil rights reform.

The state's leading Democrat, Gov. John Gilligan, who served as a congressman during Johnson's presidency referred to Johnson's passing as "tragic."

"Lyndon Johnson's career was one of devoted service to the people of the nation he loved," Gilligan said. "He served in the Congress nearly 30 years before assuming the awesome burdens of the presidency while the nation was in deep shock over the murder of President Kennedy."

"Those of us who served under him and all Americans mourn his loss. I know all Ohioans join me in expressing our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Johnson and to their two daughters in this time of sorrow."

Former Gov. James Rhodes, a Republican leading Ohio during the Johnson administration, noted that Johnson "was a personal friend."

"Lyndon B. Johnson's place in history will be written by his pronounced and profound record for social justice for all mankind," Rhodes said. "In America he was a tireless worker for his concept of government and a statesman who believed in close cooperation in the states of the union."

Fuel Shortage Puts Ohio 'On The Edge Of Crisis'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We're on the edge of a crisis, if we're not already into one," declared H. W. Chaddock, a spokesman for Columbia Gas of Ohio, alluding to the current fuel shortage.

With such complaints common among other gas companies (all but one gas company in Ohio have asked gas restrictions on new residential areas), the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) began to outline Monday what steps it would take in the event of a statewide fuel crisis.

Henry Eckart, PUCO's chairman, said planning is necessary because all fuel problems are interrelated.

He said he authorized PUCO Chief Engineer John Borrows, to "draw up a plan."

Borrows said he would first contact suppliers of coal and petroleum to get appraisals of their supply situations.

"Dealing with the problem on an individual basis may just displace it from one place to another," he explained.

At this time, propane is in shortest supply of all fuels, according to Shirley Kappa, PUCO information officer.

The PUCO began coordinating propane supplies six weeks ago to aid farmers who needed it to dry crops they had been unable to harvest earlier due to muddy fields.

Miss Kappa did not know when results of the fuel crisis review would be available, because the PUCO is having difficulties contacting certain fuel companies.

Currently, there are adequate supplies of natural gas, Ohio's main energy source, and fuel oil, Eckhart said.

But, he cautioned, there is no assurance that supplies will remain abundant. For instance, there is plenty of natural gas available, but the federal Power Commission has set prices too low at the well-head making drilling economically infeasible for the companies concerned.

Weather

Cloudy and cold today with a chance of light rain or drizzle, high near 35. Clear and cold tonight, low near 20. Fair and warmer tomorrow, high low 40s. High Monday, 57; low, 35.

Chaddock of Columbia Gas said, if the FPC raises its rates to encourage drilling to continue, it would also mean an increase in rates to the consumer, "but not right away."

Columbia Gas has been affected by the natural gas shortage. "Last Dec. 28, we told our 538 industrial customers to reduce their gas usage by 10 per cent," Chaddock said.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market did not respond today to a report that a Vietnam peace agreement had been initiated.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 4.36 to 1014.45.

Before the peace report it had been down 3.91 on word of an impending rise in banks' prime interest rate and drops in the dollar's exchange value abroad today. The Dow made a mild nudge upward on the peace report, then settled back down.

On the New York Stock Exchange, declines held a 783-to-390 lead over advances, with 1,610 issues changing hand in rather light trading.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was down 0.32 to 63.86. At the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was off 0.06 to 26.18.

MILLION MILE CLUB—Sam Steele (center) is the newest Ralston Purina driver to be named a member of the "Million Mile Club", an organization started by the National Safety Council for truckers who have totaled a million miles or 25,000 hours driving without a preventable accident. Sam, who lives at 378 E. Franklin St., plans to retire from the company in February. He has logged 743,958 accident free miles in 23 years of driving. Congratulating him is Claude Nantz, (left) A.D.O., and John Prince, right production manager. Behind him are fellow members of the Circleville Plant Fleet which won the 1971-72 Ralston Purina Fleet Safety contest. They drove a combined total of 558,180 safe miles during the year. The group was honored with a steak dinner at Tink's Monday night. From the left are Wayne Bussert, Dan Davis, Tom Ward, Nantz, Harold Davis, Steele, Dick Drum, Fred Vandermark, Prince, Irl McKnight, Ellis Norman, and Chet Starkey.

Solution Proposed For TVHS Overcrowded Classrooms At Noon

Teays Valley Board of Education discussed at length with high school and junior high administrators ways of resolving the overcrowded conditions at the high school during the noon overlap of the extended day schedule.

Several methods were heard of resolving the problem of too many students between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., when both junior and senior high classes are held. Board members voted to support a policy which will not extend the day beyond the current 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. starting and quitting times now in effect.

Adjustment in the schedule proposed for presentation to the State Department of Education lies in elimination of lunch period for junior high students. All classes will be held in seven periods. Instead of two overlapping periods, there will be only one, with the younger students beginning classes at 12:15 p.m.

Superintendent Benis Lutz was authorized to present this program to the state officials. Several other means of solving the extended day and student population expansion were discussed, but the school board hopes the lunch sacrifice will solve the matter next year and allow the district to maintain required minimum hours to meet state standards.

Requests to attend conferences and meetings were approved for: Charles Thomas, Jack Adkins, Buron Rose and Dennis Smith, to attend the Ohio Industrial Arts Conference in Columbus in March; William Lewis, Roger Campbell, to attend the annual State High School Baseball Clinic March 9; Robert Gregory, Lee Tharp and Robert Jenkins, to attend the Elementary Principal's Convention in Columbus Feb. 15.

A leave of absence for the remainder of the school year was granted for Florence Collins, a part-time employee on the custodial staff. She requested the leave of absence due to illness.

Mrs. Hazel Westbury was employed to fill the custodial vacancy for the balance of the year.

Board members purchased liability insurance for 1973 from the Republic Franklin Insurance Co.

A decision was made to advertise for bids for five new school buses, with all bids due in the clerk's office at noon Feb. 26. The bids will be tabulated for consideration at the board's regular meeting that evening.

Salary adjustments were authorized for Mrs. Lindy Doles, fourth grade teacher at Scioto and Mrs. Vivian Noecker, second grade teacher at Walnut. Mrs. Doles has completed more than 150 semester hours of training in education and Mrs. Noecker recently received a bachelor of science degree in education. The adjustments become effective the second semester.

The Teays Valley Classroom Teachers Assn. was recognized by the board as the negotiating agent for all teachers of the district.

Discussion centered on the computer services hired by the district to perform master scheduling and grade cards. The board voted to continue the contract with Data Processing Services to perform these services in the coming year.

The committee meeting with Dale Allen about the nature study and land laboratory decided the school should approach the project gradually with no effort made to provide it on a full scale. It was the board's ruling that the district is not geared to such a large undertaking immediately.

Party Postponed

A card party scheduled for tonight at the L-K Restaurant has been postponed until Jan. 30 at the same location. The once a month parties are sponsored by Pickaway Senior Center.

Deputies Arrest Couple On Bad Check Charges

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal charged Salvatore Monti and his wife Sandra with uttering and publishing forged checks after they cashed six checks taken from the Ronald L. Hoffman home, Route 4, Monday morning and were in the process of chasing another.

Mrs. Karen Hoffman told Deputy Deal that the couple took eight personalized blank checks from their check book. The checks were for the First National Bank of Kingston.

At about 9:30 a.m., they bought $2 worth of gasoline at Lutz' Marathon, Tarlton, and paid for it with a $50 check, apparently forging Mrs. Hoffman's name.

They bought $6 worth of groceries at Jones' General Store, Tarlton, and used a $55 check, again made out to Monti with Mrs. Hoffman's forged signature.

At Berry's Market, Tarlton, Mrs. Monti bought cough medicine and used a $60 check.

They apparently drove to the First National Bank, Kingston, and cashed a check for $250 and cashed a $65 check at Wigget's Variety Store, Kingston.

They drove to Lancaster and were in the process of buying a used car from Williamson Auto Sales with a $500 check when the salesman there called the First National Bank, Kingston, to verify the check.

Deputy Don Thompson, who was helping Deputy Deal with the investigation, was in the bank trying to trace the bad checks when the car came in.

He went to Lancaster and took custody of the couple from Fairfield County deputies.

Monti was officially charged with two counts and his wife with one count of uttering and publishing forged checks.

The couple's infant child was placed in the care of Children's Services pending the outcome of the trial.

Three Injured In City Mishap

Three persons were injured in a two-car collision 4:26 p.m. Monday at S. Washington and E. Union Sts.

Sheila Myers, 17, 405 Avon Drive, was injured when her car collided with an auto driven by George J. Grooms, 16, 201 E. Mill St. Grooms and a passenger in his car, Kenny Grooms, 11, 201 E. Mill St., were also injured in the mishap. All three were treated and released at Berger Hospital.

According to the report of Ptl. Jack Mills, the Myers girl had stopped for the traffic sign at E. Union St. and then pulled into the path of the Grooms' auto which was traveling on S. Washington St. No one was cited in the accident.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market did not respond today to a report that a Vietnam peace agreement had been initiated.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 4.36 to 1014.45.

Before the peace report it had been down 3.91 on word of an impending rise in banks' prime interest rate and drops in the dollar's exchange value abroad today. The Dow made a mild nudge upward on the peace report, then settled back down.

On the New York Stock Exchange, declines held a 783-to-390 lead over advances, with 1,610 issues changing hand in rather light trading.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was down 0.32 to 63.86. At the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was off 0.06 to 26.18.

In-Home Disaster Warning Radios Under Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans wide-scale tests next month on a radio warning system it wants to put in your bedroom.

The radio receiver listens silently to a government frequency and comes to life only when the military activates it with a special, coded signal.

The aim is to save lives by broadcasting warnings of tornadoes, hurricanes, floods or nuclear attack.

Installation of the radio device would be voluntary.

Originally, Civil Defense officials hoped for a law requiring that the radio receivers be built into every new television set sold in the United States. But White House broadcasting officials overruled the military, which runs Civil Defense operations. They feared the public might interpret mandatory installation of the receivers as part of a government propaganda and spy system similar to the one used by dictator Big Brother in George Orwell's novel "1984."

The Pentagon's system can only talk, not watch or listen.

Civil Defense officials, who conceived the warning system, have built a bombproof radio transmitter near Baltimore and plan to start test broadcasts to a 10-state area in early February.

About 400 high-priced receivers are being built, and will be distributed at first only to state and local government authorities who want them.

But technicians are close to perfecting a home receiver cheap enough—about $10—for almost anyone to afford.

The civil defense officials call the system DIDS, for Decision Information Distribution System.

Prison Payoff For Watergate Pleas Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the Watergate political espionage trial entered its third week today, Time magazine said it learned that one of the original seven defendants, E. Howard Hunt Jr., offered money to four other defendants as an inducement to plead guilty.

Only two of an original seven defendants remained on trial in U.S. District Court here in connection with the break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic party headquarters at the Watergate last summer. Hunt and four others have pleaded guilty in the case.

Time magazine said Hunt offered the other four $1,000 a month apiece for each month they spend in jail. It said the admissions of guilt by Hunt and the others "staved off" testimony that the operation had been approved by other persons.

Hunt's lawyer, William O. Bittman, said Hunt "categorically and emphatically denies" the magazine story.

Congress appropriated $2 million for the first transmitter and receivers in 1970. Cost overruns have raised the initial price to $5.7 million.

If next month's tests are successful, and if Congress goes along, the Pentagon plans eventually to build a total of 10 transmitters that together would reach nearly every corner of the nation, except Alaska and Hawaii.

The automated transmitters could be operated by remote control from the North American Air Defense Command near Colorado Springs, Colo., or at either of two back-up points.

By pushing buttons on a console, a technician at one of these control points would be able to turn on air-raid sirens, broadcast messages by voice or teletype to state and local officials, or send announcements over home receivers.

3.7 Million GM Autos Are Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors announced the recall today of 3.7 million 1971 and 1972 cars for installation of a shield over the steering coupling to prevent the possibility of flying stones lodging between the coupling and the car frame.

In making the announcement, GM said it had received reports of 96 incidents where stones were scooped up, resulting in 23 accidents in which 12 injuries were reported.

Involved in the recall were full-size 1971 and 1972 models of Chevrolets, Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Pontiacs.

The company said the shields would be installed at no charge to the car owners. It said owners would be notified in about two weeks.

GM said that if one of the cars is driven over loose gravel at speeds which cause the car to pitch excessively, the front frame crossmember may scoop up loose stones or gravel from the roadway.

Some of the stones could lodge between the steering coupling and frame, causing steering interference on a left turn, the automaker reported, adding that the stone is dislodged when the steering wheel is turned to the right.

area, in some cases as small as one-third of a single county. Specific instructions on how to cope with the disaster could be broadcast.

The Pentagon began thinking about improving its national warning system more than a decade ago, when missiles made the old, telephone-and-siren system obsolete.

That system, changed little today, would take an estimated 30 minutes to reach 75 per cent of the population, even under the best of circumstances.

Officials estimate the DIDS system could warn 90 per cent of the public in half a minute, if everyone had a receiver.

Furthermore the present system relies heavily on sirens that don't send many people to cover in peacetime and may not wake up many people at night. Early tests showed DIDS receivers, using a siren-like signal about as loud as a ringing telephone, woke up almost anyone.

Before settling on the DIDS system the government rejected a number of other warning systems as too expensive, too unreliable or technically impractical. Among these were proposals to ring all the nation's

In-Home Disaster Warning Radios Under Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans wide-scale tests next month on a radio warning system it wants to put in your bedroom.

The radio receiver listens silently to a government frequency and comes to life only when the military activates it with a special, coded signal.

The aim is to save lives by broadcasting warnings of tornadoes, hurricanes, floods or nuclear attack.

Scouts' Impressive Role

Back in 1910 an organization was formed that was destined to have a profound effect on the lives of many Americans. Today, 63 years later, there are nearly 40 million Americans who can say with pride, "I was a Boy Scout."

At the age of 63, the Boy Scouts of America is still a young and growing organization. There is an old saw among Scouts that "three-quarters of Scouting is 'outing.'"

But Scouting is more than just an outdoor program. It helps build character and good citizenship. Take for instance the 12 points of the Scout Law—a Scout is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean, reverent.

What boy, if he takes these admonitions seriously, can fail to become a good citizen? What boy, as he grows toward manhood, can fail to be impressed by the Scout oath, in which he promises, on his honor, to do his duty to his God, to his country, and to himself?

These words are simple and learned by rote, yet they have a way of impressing themselves on a boy's mind so much that he will remember them long after he has forgotten many of the lessons he learned elsewhere. And, as he grows older, they take on new meaning. They are translated into an ideal of service.

Optimist's View

The plight of the world's major cities increasingly is the subject of debate and concern. Seldom are optimistic words heard in these discussions, which is what makes those of Prof. Wilbur Thompson of Wayne State University interesting.

Addressing the National League of Cities, Prof.

Thompson took note of the inner decay which is typical of large cities, but not with the expression of despair so often heard.

"This may be the start of recycling our cities," he said. "There is room to move about; we can build new towns in town more easily than before."

Summed up in those few words are both the need and the opportunities expressed by the suburban sprawl and the abandonment of sections of urban centers. Whether it is possible to build a mini-suburbia in the heart of a city is a challenge for developers and city planners.

Building "new towns in town" is an optimist's answer.

Bores Of The Month

By JEFFREY HART

Any journalist fervently desires to write about interesting things — new information, coruscating insights, fresh analysis. That sort of thing is the name of the game. But there is a dismal side to reality that must be noted from time to time, and today I want to turn to the bores and the boring, the steady drip-drip of which has to make any sensible person suddenly desire to drop out in Tangier or some other such spa. I hereby introduce, tarah-tarah, my nominations for the Bores of the Month:

1) The journalistic habit of referring to John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman of the White House staff as "the Germans." Frankly, both are ultimate West Coast types, Haldeman distinctively Southern Californian. Their German last-names aside, no one is less Bismarckian. They eat Wheaties for breakfast, not knock-wurst. Both are Christian Scientists, a faith which, whatever else you think of it, is a vintage expression of American optimism.

2) Conspicuous moralizing generally, from Senator Kennedy and Eric Sevareid on down. If only one could prescribe a strong dose of European cynicism. Most moralizers and breast-beaters and pulpit-groaners will not, as everyone knows, lose one wink of sleep or enjoy their martinis and steaks one whit the less whatever may happen in Bombay or Bangladesh or Hanoi or to all the grape-pickers between here and the Mexican border.

Goodbye To Vampires

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP) — The Royal New Zealand Air Force is retiring the last of its 21-year-old Vampire jet fighters.

The Vampires comprised the country's first jet squadron in 1951 and were the mainstay of the Air Force strike force until Canberra light bombers were introduced in 1959.

Vampires remained in an operations role until the Air Force acquired Skyhawks in 1970. They will be completely phased out on arrival of new Strike-master jet training aircraft.

Find Ammo For Irish Insurgents

DUBLIN (AP) — Discovery of ammunition washed ashore on the southern coast of the Irish Republic sparked a land, sea and air search today for more munitions thought to be intended for the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Three cases of ammunition were found on beaches in County Cork. One was an eight-ton container with more than 1,000 rocket shells for bazookas, while two cases contained several thousand rounds of machine-gun ammunition.

Authorities said the labels indicated the crates were shipped from New York to the Netherlands. U.S. and Interpol agents were asked to help trace the shipment's origin.

It was speculated that the shipment had been left on the beach because it was too big and heavy to move handily.

In Northern Ireland, meanwhile, British troops discovered more than 500 pounds of ammonium nitrate and other bombmaking equipment in a garage in a Protestant area of Belfast.

A militant Protestant group in Northern Ireland announced that it was joining forces with the Ulster Defense Force, a terrorist group outlawed six years ago, in attempt to end rivalry among Protestant political leaders in the province.

Billy Hull, chairman of the 200,000-member Loyalist Association of Workers warned the politicians that they would be "swept aside" if they did not get together. It was the first time a legal group had associated itself with the UDF.

preserve our sense of that. A glittering example of the Hitler thing pops up in a new book by Gabriel Ronay called "The Truth About Dracula." Ronay turns aside from his reasearches in vampirology to indulge in left-wing political polemics. First he attributes to JFK Barry Goldwater's famous "extremism in defense of liberty" remark. Then, on that basis, he compares JFK as "cold warrior" to Hitler, Mussolini, and Vlad the Impaler, the 17th century original of Dracula. No kidding.

4) (Stokely Carmichael, who has been abroad for quite a while, and is now having media re-entry problems. So hungry is he for some, any, notoriety that he has now praised New Orleans sniper Mark Essex, who killed six people on January 7.

5) The canard, endlessly repeated, that Vietnam is, and always has been, one country, but was "artificially" divided by the 1954 Geneva agreements. The truth is that the emergence of two separate Vietnamese states has been abundantly recognized by the world community. The General Assembly has recommended South Vietnamese membership in the U.N. on three different occasions. In 1957, the Soviet Union supported the idea. Under international law, South Vietnam qualifies as an independent state, as do North and South Korea, and East and West Germany. On this question it makes no difference that Hanoi refuses to recognize the division. No one doubts that Israel, for example, is a sovereign state, though Cairo withholds recognition.

6) Prose like this: "The game itself was tedious and flat. The Dolphins, like the Viet Cong, dominated the first half of the game; the Redskins, like the American B-52's, dominated the second half. It was too late for the Redskins." (Pete Hamill in the New York Post). If phony analogies were horses, intellectual beggars might ride. Mencken, where are you? Voltaire, thou shouldst be living at this hour! Alexander Pope: The time is ripe for a Fifth Book of "The Duncaid."

Is "trench mouth" a venereal disease?

Mrs. H. J., R.I.

Dear Mr. J.:

Vincent's disease, or "trench mouth," is definitely not a venereal disease. It is not related to syphilis or gonorrhea, the two venereal diseases that now are reaching epidemic proportions.

Trench mouth is a disagreeable, painful infection of the margins of the gums. It may also involve the mucous lining of the throat, and even the tonsils.

A variety of germs may be responsible for this condition, which is so often associated with poor hygiene, nutritional disturbances and debilitating diseases.

Although trench mouth is no longer considered contagious, it still is wise to avoid contact with those who are suffering from this condition.

Occasionally, lowered resistance following severe illness or emotional distress may lower body resistance and allow the fusiform bacteria to invade the tissues of the mouth.

Smoking has been indicted as a possible added reason why Vincent's infection persists.

The disease, especially in the acute phase, responds quickly to antibiotics after the correction of the local problems in the gums by the dentist.

A big storm is brewing in our house. Our twin daughters want to become nurses. They are now in the third year of college.

Scouts' Impressive Role

Back in 1910 an organization was formed that was destined to have a profound effect on the lives of many Americans. Today, 63 years later, there are nearly 40 million Americans who can say with pride, "I was a Boy Scout."

At the age of 63, the Boy Scouts of America is still a young and growing organization. There is an old saw among Scouts that "three-quarters of Scouting is 'outing.'"

But Scouting is more than just an outdoor program. It helps build character and good citizenship. Take for instance the 12 points of the Scout Law—a Scout is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean, reverent.

What boy, if he takes these admonitions seriously, can fail to become a good citizen? What boy, as he grows toward manhood, can fail to be impressed by the Scout oath, in which he promises, on his honor, to do his duty to his God, to his country, and to himself?

These words are simple and learned by rote, yet they have a way of impressing themselves on a boy's mind so much that he will remember them long after he has forgotten many of the lessons he learned elsewhere. And, as he grows older, they take on new meaning. They are translated into an ideal of service.

A big storm is brewing in our house. Our twin daughters want to become nurses. They are now in the third year of college.

My husband is adamant because he insists that nursing is a difficult and menial occupation. How can I convince him that the girls should be allowed to make their own choice?

Mrs. A.T.T., Iowa

Dear Mrs. T.:

The profession of nursing is a venerable and highly dignified one. Nurses play a vital role in the total structure of the health team. They are trained to become invaluable forces in the patient's eventual recovery from illness.

Their psychological insight and sensitive awareness of one's emotional needs support their patients during the turbulence of a hospital experience.

As a physician who is in daily contact with nurses, I find that their contribution to the destiny of my patients is enormous. It is true that some of the obligations of the nurse may be considered "menial," but this is a trivial part of the total structure of nursing. The physician, too, has tasks that are not glamorous, but none of these detract from the gratification implicit in caring for and curing the sick.

A visit to any one of the fine hospitals in your city and a frank discussion with the Supervisor of Nursing will give your husband real insight into the vast horizon of nursing.

The profession of nursing is filled with opportunities for advancement and economic security, but more especially with the satisfaction of contributing to the health and happiness of other human beings.

Electronic Voting System Finally Makes It To House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within the week, the tradition-loving House will take a long step into the new world of instant mathematics and electronic memories. The members will begin voting through a computer.

The sonorous, and time-eating, call of the 435-name roll — "Baskin," "Aye," "Ay-uh," "Butterfield," "No."

See Terrorism In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military officers predict Communist forces in South Vietnam will revert to guerrilla tactics, terror and assassination after a cease-fire.

Influenced by intelligence reports and past history, these American officers expect a cease-fire at best to be only a pause in the long war between ty Vietnamese for control of the South.

They doubt that an international supervisory organization will be able to prevent this happening, even with a policing force of thousands.

Henry Kissinger, who will return to Paris today in hopes of completing a peace agreement with North Vietnamese diplomats, said recently that the United States aims to avoid ending the war "in such a way that it is just a beginning of another round of conflict."

But outgoing Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird sounded pessimistic about a lasting peace in Vietnam when he told his final news conference last Friday:

"I hope and pray there will not be any killing in Vietnam, or Laos, or Cambodia, or in Southeast Asia ... as a practical man I cannot assure you of that...."

"I am not promising anybody that, under any kind of agreement, because I know the history of Southeast Asia ... I am talking about every possible kind of agreement," Laird said.

In private, American military officers are even more skeptical. They view the continued presence of North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam during the formal cease-fire as potentially fatal to peace.

"Nooo." — will join the cavalry's bugle call, the rebel yell and the other sounds of history.

Besides sparing the larynxes of clerks, electronic voting will almost halve the time consumed, saving some 90 hours of lawmaking time a year, provide practically instantaneous written records of votes, break them down by parties or states as required and, perhaps, end the need for embarrassing corrections previously made when absent members were found to have been recorded as voting.

The House's million-dollar installation, touted as the first fully electronic system of its kind in the world, can run rings around the simple electric voting setups common in state legislatures.

Each member has been issued a plastic oblong that looks much like a credit card. It bears the member's photograph, in color, and perforations that give the computer the identifying information.

Voting stations have been installed at 49 strategic locations on the House floor. Any member can vote at any of these by inserting his card and pushing the appropriate button.

Suppose he left the card in his other pants? He can go to the master station at the rostrum, execute a written ballot, and have the clerk record his vote with an all-purpose device.

On the gallery wall behind and above the speaker's desk, a scoreboard will flash the names of all members and their votes. Running and ultimately final totals will be displayed on panels at each side of the chamber.

Russia: land of onion domes and men running around in funny hats? Is this what twenty-three girls from Central Ohio will see when they tour Russia?

The Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council is sponsoring this wider opportunity for Senior Scouts of Central Ohio. They will visit such places as Red Square, the Kremlin, and the Bolshoi Theatre. Cities they will see are Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev.

The four lucky Senior Scouts of Ashville's Troop No. 940 who were interviewed and accepted for the opportunity are Becky Foreman, a sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foreman, Route 1, Ashville; Jacquie Whitt, a junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whitt, 5045 Cook Road, South Bloomfield; Tammy Shields, a freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Shields, 213 Powell Street, Ashville; and Cindy Beattie, a sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Beattie, 60 West Main Street, Ashville.

The twenty-three girls had their first meeting January 3 at the Lutheran Church Parish House in Circleville. They discussed Russian history up to 1917, and Russian books were distributed to the girls who will try to master the basics of this difficult language before they embark on their long journey.

Trip directors of "Russia: Discovery '73" are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Schmolli, a Columbus couple who have visited the Soviet Union and have been advisors for several trips to Europe for young people.

On June 14, the group will be boarding a 747 jet for sixteen days in the Soviet Union.

Teacher Leaves TVHS

Mrs. Ruth Galate who taught business education subjects left Teays Valley December 20.

She and her family are moving to Marion, Ohio, in the near future where her husband Charles is employed as an accountant.

Mrs. Galate has two sons, Charles and Mark who have been attending Saltcreek Elementary School, and one daughter, Helen, who is three years old.

Mrs. Galate taught at Teays Valley for more than eight years. She will be warmly remembered by students and faculty of Teays Valley who wish her and her family much happiness in their new home.

She said, "I would like to emphasize to my business education students how important it is that they relate what they are learning to an actual job that they are thinking about in the future. I would like to stress the importance of having shorthand as a skill when one is applying for a good job. I would like to see more students enroll for shorthand classes."

The TV students would like to welcome Mrs. Welch to Teays Valley. We hope she will enjoy teaching here.

3 High School Boys Sing At Brotherhood

By WILSON ETT
Three boys from the Teays Valley High School Boys' Ensemble performed at St. Matthew Lutheran Church in Lockbourne on January 10. The boys, Steve Clark, Wilson Ett, and Jim Pabst, sang several songs for the annual Lutheran Brotherhood Banquet. The boys were accompanied by Miss Darlene Freeman, TV Vocal Music Instructor.

The boys sang six songs as a group: "Step to the Rear," "Brotherhood of Man," "Yesterday," "Grand Old Flag," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," and "Blowin' In The Wind." Each also sang a solo: Jim Pabst, "Exodus"; Steve Clark, "Jean"; and Wilson Ett, "Impossible Dream."

The trio was well received by the all-men's group, and each was presented a home-baked pie by the cooks in gratitude for their singing.

Semester Exams

The midnight oil burned last week and there were many groans of "Wish I'd studied harder earlier!" as TV students took semester exams.

January 15 and 16 students were tested in English, foreign languages, social studies, and business education.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the 17th and 18th, examinations were given in industrial arts, science, mathematics, art, home economics, agriculture, and OWA.

On Friday health and drivers' education exams were taken by students along with make-up tests.

Friday afternoon students and teachers heaved a sigh of relief as they thought, "Glad semester exams come only once a year!"

Big Cake Too Much For Meeting

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It was the pride and joy of Corbo's Dulceria when they rolled it out of the oven and trucked it over to the plush downtown restaurant—a 150-pound cream and strawberry cake that was dessert for 300 people.

Unfortunately, there were only 15 people at the Rubbermaid Co. salesmen's conference luncheon in the restaurant, and the cake seemed a little larger than the one they ordered.

"Somebody goofed," admitted Sal Corbo, owner of Corbo's Dulceria. He said a clerk got the Rubbermaid order confused with a weekend wedding.

"We thought it was a big company party," he said. The wedding order, he said, was "maybe for a second wedding."

Ohio Cycle Posse Will Stay Together

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Matching up 36 sheriff's deputies, motorcycles and riding gear this weekend left Cuyahoga County Sheriff Ralph Kreiger exhausted, but it was worth it.

President Nixon, who invited Kreiger's volunteer motorcycle squad to lead his inaugural parade in Washington, D.C., Saturday, has promised to invite the squad to more parades during the next four years, Kreiger said.

He said Nixon told him to keep the team intact to ride as a presidential unit in parades such as the Rose Bowl or at New Orleans' Mardi Gras.

The motorcycle squad was invited to the inaugural parade after Nixon saw a smaller group of cyclists under Kreiger's direction perform during a campaign visit here last fall.

Kreiger said he recruited deputies from Lorain, Stark, Mahoning and Summit counties to fill out the squad to the 36 needed to form a giant "76" at the head of the inaugural parade.

He said the travel costs, uniforms and parts needed to match up the Harley Davidson motorcycles probably will run to about $250,000, but that most of it had already been covered by donations. In addition, each of the deputies sacrificed a week's pay.

"The taxpayers have paid for nothing," said Kreiger.

Treatment Center Workers Off Jobs

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP)— Workers at the Junction City Treatment Center in Perry County seem to have joined the recent series of walkouts by public employees in the state.

Center Supt. Miller Makey said ten of the 18 day shift personnel have called in sick this morning. Makey is not calling the situation a blue flu walkout yet. He said there is no security problem posed by the sick call, which apparently is a protest of working conditions.

Gets Late Calls

CALGARY, Canada (AP) — The Salvation Army suicide prevention and emergency counselling bureau handles about 100 telephone calls a month, with most of the calls coming after 11 p.m.

Capt. Noel Sorley says people prefer to talk over the telephone rather than across a desk because there are no barriers between the caller and the listener and callers can remain anonymous.

wanted to be sure his new owner would be good to him.

Linda, 11, was wounded by an accidental gunshot a month ago and her spinal cord was severely damaged. Doctors fear she may never walk — nor ride her pony again.

Aware that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Melvin of Hugo, had no hospitalization or accident insurance to relieve their financial burden, Linda decided last week to sell the pony, named Jacob.

She wrote:

"Dear auctioneer:
"I am Linda Dean Melvin, 11 years old. I want to sell my pony to help pay on my hospital bill. I love him very much, so be good to him. His name is Jacob. I rode him some with my daddy holding him and he threw me once, but he is a good pony."

"Thank you, Linda Dean Melvin."
Last Friday, Grady Holton of Hugo paid $73 for Jacob shortly after he went into the ring. Then he asked auctioneer Wren Shaw to run him through again.

Jacob sold a second time, a third, and on and on. Friends who helped buy Jacob decided to give the pony back to Linda.

The price for Jacob stood at $1,137 — probably the largest figure ever paid for a horse at the Hugo Sale Commission ring — and may go still higher because other people say they want to get in on the bidding.

When Linda was told about the success of her "sale," her mother said, "She was speechless."

Ohio Widow, 57, In Love With Art Of Air Acrobatics

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—When Mrs. Jeanne Munns feels her 57-year-old bones getting itchy, she jumps in her tiny opencockpit airplane, roars into the sky and does a few turns and rolls.

"My hair's getting some gray in it, but I'm not lookin' for a rocking chair," laughs the spry lady a devoted aerobat.

Mrs. Munns, widowed in 1954, grew up afraid of flying. But she set aside that fear when she had to hurry to the side of her sick mother in Georgia eight years ago.

Flown to Georgia by a friend in a private plane, she instantly fell in love with air travel.

She enrolled for flying lessons and earned a license.

In 1971, a Louisiana acquaintance introduced her to the tiny Pitts Special, a 1500-pound dual-wing aerobatic plane Mrs. Munns says "looks like you could put it in the palm of your hand."

"The first time I rode that plane I just flipped," laughs the 5-foot-4, 140-pound pilot. "I just had to have it."

Mrs. Munns, shelled out $26,000 for one of the tiny two-seat aircraft, and traveled to Wyoming to pick it up at the manufacturer's plant.

"Boy, that was something to get the call that it was ready," she recalls. "But when I got out there and saw those mountains, I had other ideas."

"About all I could do (flying home) was follow the roads through the mountains. It got a wee bit cold up there."

Mrs. Munns, who'll travel to Miami, Fla., this week for advanced instruction in aerobatics, recalls with laughter her introduction to the sport three years ago.

She cringed, she says, when the pilot announced he would "do a couple of spins."

"I told him to wait, that I was in no hurry," she recalls. "But six months later, I could do 19 turns at a time in a spin. I was scared at first, but I wanted to do it."

"I don't get dizzy," she says, "and I don't get sick, if you know what I mean."

The Blue And Gold

Teacher Welcomed By Teays Valley

By PAM HANNAH
TVHS has a new teacher, Mrs. Ramona Welch, from Fort Thomas, Kentucky. Her husband's name is

MRS. ROMONA WELCH

Damon Welch. Mr. Welch is from Chillicothe, Ohio.

Mrs. Welch graduated from Morehead State University, Kentucky. She majored in Secretarial Studies. At Teays Valley she teaches business education subjects which include business mathematics, office practice, business English, and Shorthand I and II.

When asked how she liked Teays Valley Mrs. Welch said, "Everyone has been exceptionally nice to me. The hours are very difficult for me, but I believe I will adjust very soon."

Mrs. Welch thinks that the sports activities are good but that there should be a girls' golf team.

Her favorite color is pink, food is prime rib, and singer is Dianne Warwick.

Mrs. Welch thinks that "The students are very lucky to have such an excellent administrative staff and teaching staff." She said, "I would like to emphasize to my business education students how important it is that they relate what they are learning to an actual job that they are thinking about in the future. I would like to stress the importance of having shorthand as a skill when one is applying for a good job. I would like to see more students enroll for shorthand classes."

The TV students would like to welcome Mrs. Welch to Teays Valley. We hope she will enjoy teaching here.

3 High School Boys Sing At Brotherhood

By WILSON ETT

Three boys from the Teays Valley High School Boys' Ensemble performed at St. Matthew Lutheran Church in Lockbourne on January 10. The boys, Steve Clark, Wilson Ett, and Jim Pabst, sang several songs for the annual Lutheran Brotherhood Banquet. The boys were accompanied by Miss Darlene Freeman, TV Vocal Music Instructor.

The boys sang six songs as a group: "Step to the Rear," "Brotherhood of Man," "Yesterday," "Grand Old Flag," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," and "Blowin' In The Wind." Each also sang a solo: Jim Pabst, "Exodus"; Steve Clark, "Jean"; and Wilson Ett, "Impossible Dream."

The trio was well received by the all-men's group, and each was presented a home-baked pie by the cooks in gratitude for their singing.

Semester Exams

The midnight oil burned last week and there were many groans of "Wish I'd studied harder earlier!" as TV students took semester exams.

January 15 and 16 students were tested in English, foreign languages, social studies, and business education. On Wednesday and Thursday, the 17th and 18th, examinations were given in industrial arts, science, mathematics, art, home economics, agriculture, and OWA.

On Friday health and drivers' education exams were taken by students along with make-up tests.

Friday afternoon students and teachers heaved a sigh of relief as they thought, "Glad semester exams come only once a year!"

Big Cake Too Much For Meeting

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It was the pride and joy of Corbo's Dulceria when they rolled it out of the oven and trucked it over to the plush downtown restaurant—a 150-pound cream and strawberry cake that was dessert for 300 people.

Unfortunately, there were only 15 people at the Rubbermaid Co. salesmen's conference luncheon in the restaurant, and the cake seemed a little larger than the one they ordered.

"Somebody goofed," admitted Sal Corbo, owner of Corbo's Dulceria. He said a clerk got the Rubbermaid order confused with a weekend wedding.

"We thought it was a big company party," he said. The wedding order, he said, was "maybe for a second wedding."

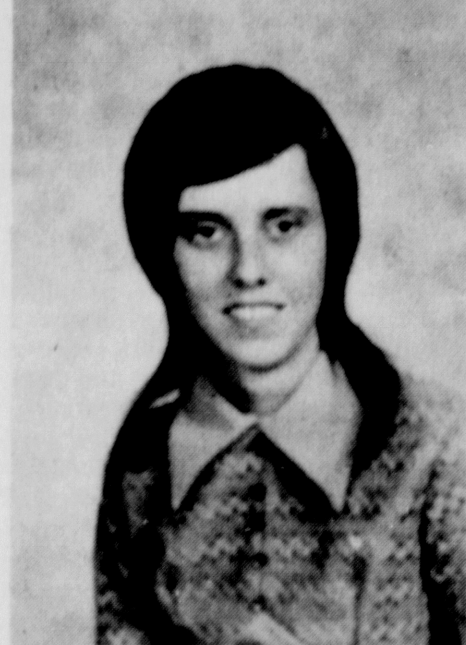

The restaurant pushed several tables together to hold up the $200 cake while the matter was discussed. It was finally resolved to everyone's satisfaction.

Rubbermaid bought the big cake anyway but donated it to the Parmadale Children's Village. The 15 salesmen got a smaller substitute.

4 Students To Take Tour Of Russia

By SHARON REED

Russia: land of onion domes and men running around in funny hats? Is this what twenty-three girls from Central Ohio will see when they tour Russia?

The Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council is sponsoring this wider opportunity for Senior Scouts of Central Ohio. They will visit such places as Red Square, the Kremlin, and the Bolshoi Theatre. Cities they will see are Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev.

The four lucky Senior Scouts of Ashville's Troop No. 940 who were interviewed and accepted for the opportunity are Becky Foreman, a sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foreman, Route 1, Ashville; Jacquie Whitt, a junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whitt, 5045 Cook Road, South Bloomfield; Tammy Shields, a freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Shields, 213 Powell Street, Ashville; and Cindy Beattie, a sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Beattie, 60 West Main Street, Ashville.

The twenty-three girls had their first meeting January 3 at the Lutheran Church Parish House in Circleville. They discussed Russian history up to 1917, and Russian books were distributed to the girls who will try to master the basics of this difficult language before they embark on their long journey.

Trip directors of "Russia: Discovery '73" are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Schmol, a Columbus couple who have visited the Soviet Union and have been advisors for several trips to Europe for young people.

On June 14, the group will be boarding a 747 jet for sixteen days in the Soviet Union.

Teacher Leaves TVHS

Monday Club Paper Presented

By Mrs. Ralph E. Dunkel

"What's In The Stars?" was the subject of a paper presented by Mrs. Ralph E. Dunkel for the first January meeting of Monday Club in the Historical Society meeting room. She gave an informative background of astrology and reasons for today's increasing interest in what the stars have to tell.

Mrs. Dunkel said that belief in the astral influence of the heavenly bodies, has been found the world over in every age and among every class.

Its recurrent periods of popularity in the past have left their marks on everyday language. They are found in such expressions as: thank our lucky stars, ill-starred and star-crossed lovers, as in Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet.

It is also in Shakespeare's play "Julius Caesar" when he says "The fault, dear Brutus, is in our stars, and not in ourselves that we are underlings." A star sports player is also referred to as a stellar athlete. The military has four-star generals and sages advise us to "hitch your wagon to a star." Stars, moon, sun and constellations such as the big dipper, appear on national emblems as on our Stars and Stripes.

We say that show productions are star-studded. A few of many reflective songs are "When You Wish Upon A Star," "Aquarius" and to reach the unreachable star in "The Impossible Dream." Then there are words like disaster which means, deprived of one's lucky star.

Luna, the Roman's name for moon, once believed to be the cause of madness, gave us the word lunacy. The disease, influenza, is from the Italian word for influence of the stars which were believed responsible for the plagues of illness. There is the nursery rhyme "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star" and the wishing star verse, "Star Light, Star Bright." The practice of planting by the signs is still observed by believers.

Among the civilizations of the Orient, astrology has long been a part of religion and daily life. Astrologers in

Patten-Hawley

Vows Exchanged

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie A. Patten, Langport Road, Upper Arlington, was the setting on Dec. 23rd for the marriage of their daughter, Jo Ann, to Philip Caldwell Hawley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester G. Hawley, 2690 Edington Road. Mr. Hawley is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell of near Lockbourne. The home was also the scene of the reception.

Dr. Robert Haines of the First Community Church officiated the 7:30 p.m. ceremony. Mrs. Robert L. Gerbig, the bride's sister, and Mr. Brent C. Hawley, the bridegroom's brother, attended the couple.

Mr. Hawley presented a program of guitar music preceding the ceremony. The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents was held in the Jack Nicklaus Room of Scioto County Club on Dec. 22nd.

The newlywed couple will reside in Durham, N.C., where the bridegroom attends the Duke University Medical School and the bride teaches in the Durham County Public Schools.

Asia ply their trade on every other street corner and their charts determine the marriage, burial etc. of kings. The marriage of the American girl, Hope Cook, to the Crown Prince of Sikkim was postponed for a year until March, 1963, as charted by the prince's astrologer.

Astrology has become big business. Even non-believers can't ignore the boom. It is everywhere in evidence. Within the past 10 years, forty million people in the United States alone have suddenly begun to take an interest. They include well-educated men and women who are already successful in their careers and private lives, businessmen and astute politicians, as well as intelligent young people. Some depend on astrology for advice and direction in their everyday activity. Others have it as a hobby and still others regard it as an amusing parlor game.

Today, two out of three newspapers carry a horoscope column of some kind as well as television and radio programs and commercials. The top newspaper astrologers are Carol Righter, whose daily column is found in The Herald, Sidney Omarr and Constella. The sale of astrology magazines and annual horoscope guides has jumped beyond imagination. Many stores have such books as "The Astrology Way To The Stock Market Profits," astrological cookbooks, zodiac sign bracelet charms, splashy pins and diamond brooches. Some bankers offer checkbooks imprinted with his customer's zodiac sign.

A Long Island man charts stock-market fluctuations according to the planets. He holds the theory that if sunspots affect crops, they also affect commodity and stock market prices. Some companies have computerized reading outlets and several large cities subscribe to zodiactronics service by way of the telephone any hour of the day.

What first triggered today's big boom in astrology was probably the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963. At least three better known astrologers had predicted when he was elected in 1960 that he would not serve out his full term as president. At that time not many people took note of that prophecy, but three years later the newspapers dug them up from their files and made front page stories of them.

Astrologers point out that an event known as a conjunction occurs every 20 years when the planets Saturn and Jupiter come close together. For 100 years every President inaugurated in the year of this conjunction has died in office. Lincoln who took office in 1861, Garfield in 1881, McKinley in 1901, Harding, in 1921, Roosevelt in 1941 and Kennedy in 1961. Four out of the six were murdered.

She concluded by saying that most people won't admit they believe in it but most of them know the sun sign of their birth date. Most astrologers generally advise in the final analysis to bear in mind that while the 12 zodiac signs may determine this or that facet of your personality, what you do with it is up to you.

Club president, Mrs. William Curtiss, presided during the business meeting. She announced that Miss Elizabeth Tolbert and Dr. Nancy Holman were recently appointed co-chairmen of the 1973-74 program committee.

DEBORAH ANN HERMAN

Wedding Plans Are Announced

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Deborah Ann Herman to George Lawrence Sadler Jr. is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Herman, 119 Evans St., Gibsonburg. Mr. Sadler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Sadler, 469 E. Franklin St., Circleville.

Miss Herman is a 1970 graduate of Gibsonburg High School and attended Bowling Green State University for two years. She is currently employed at Frisch's.

Her fiancé is a 1967 graduate of Circleville High School and is a veteran of the war in Vietnam. He is an assistant manager at Frisch's.

March 23rd is the date that has been chosen by the couple for the marriage, which will take place at 7:30 p.m. in St. Michael's Catholic Church in Gibsonburg.

Ashville Lutheran Women Conduct General Meeting

The January General Meeting of the Women of First English Lutheran Church social room on Wednesday.

Mrs. Robert Michelfelder opened the meeting with devotions in keeping with the theme for the year "Be Alive." Prior to the opening of the meeting all members were presented small bees made of fabric by the president to remind them of the theme.

Mrs. Roger Hedges presented Mrs. Charles Walters of Circleville, who gave a most interesting and informative talk and showed slides of the recent trip made to Ethiopia and Kenya. They visited their daughter and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Merlin Seitz and daughter. Mrs. Walters also displayed several articles she had bought.

In a candlelight ceremony, Mrs. Georgia Dore installed the following officers for 1973: Mrs. Thomas Ramsay, president; Mrs. Emerson Dum; vice-president; Mrs. Robert Michelfelder, secretary and Mrs. Roger Hedges, stewardship secretary. Mrs. Wayne Pontius, treasurer and Mrs. Duane Braggalla, education secretary were unable to be present.

At the business session Mrs. Ramsey thanked those who helped serve the lunch for the Pastor's Conference on Jan. 8th.

Past presidents of the organization were honored and presented carnation corsages by the president. Present were: Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mrs. Emerson Dum, Mrs. Donald Flierl, Mrs. Roger Hedges and Mrs. Georgia Dore.

In addition to Mrs. Walters guests were, Mrs. Howard Hosler and Mrs. Frank Morrison. A delicious dessert course was served by the newly elected officers.

Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Paul Cromley, reported that 13 notes and Christmas cards had been sent to members who were ill. Mrs. J. Leroy Frazier reported the sale of 36 cookbooks.

The Regent welcomed a new member, Miss Martha Kay Elen Thomas.

Mrs. Henry Bartholomew introduced the speaker, Mrs. Hagan, who gave an entertaining and peppy talk on DAR projects. She spoke of the state regent's project, "Miss Jane" a doll for which each chapter is expected to make costumes. This doll is to be given to the lucky number holder.

"American History as recorded in Quilt Patterns" was the theme for the display. DAR members carefully took from their chests the heirloom quilts that had been made by grandmothers so long ago. Of the many beautiful quilts on display there was no duplication of patterns. Some of the patterns were: the log cabin, the walk through the woods, the climbing rose, the crazy one, the lone star and the nine patch. The quilting was outstanding both in design and detail and the stitches small and perfect. One coverlet, a blue and white one was woven so intricately that it resembled a lace pattern. There were two quilts made of silk and velvet. The rich colors and textures as well as the blending of materials made these interesting.

It's a good idea to rinse a serving plate with cold water before unmolding a gelatin salad or dessert onto it. Dry the edges of the serving plate with a paper towel after the unmolding.

Monday Club Paper Presented By Mrs. Ralph E. Dunkel

"What's In The Stars?" was the subject of a paper presented by Mrs. Ralph E. Dunkel for the first January meeting of Monday Club in the Historical Society meeting room. She gave an informative background of astrology and reasons for today's increasing interest in what the stars have to tell.

Mrs. Dunkel said that belief in the astral influence of the heavenly bodies, has been found the world over in every age and among every class.

Its recurrent periods of popularity in the past have left their marks on everyday language. They are found in such expressions as: thank our lucky stars, ill-starred and star-crossed lovers, as in Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet.

It is also in Shakespeare's play "Julius Caesar" when he says "The fault, dear Brutus, is in our stars, and not in ourselves that we are underlings." A star sports player is also referred to as a stellar athlete. The military has four-star generals and sages advise us to "hitch your wagon to a star." Stars, moon, sun and constellations such as the big dipper, appear on national emblems as on our Stars and Stripes.

We say that show productions are star-studded. A few of many reflective songs are "When You Wish Upon A Star," "Aquarius" and to reach the unreachable star in "The Impossible Dream." Then there are words like disaster which means, deprived of one's lucky star.

Luna, the Roman's name for moon, once believed to be the cause of madness, gave us the word lunacy. The disease, influenza, is from the Italian word for influence of the stars which were believed responsible for the plagues of illness. There is the nursery rhyme "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star" and the wishing star verse, "Star Light, Star Bright." The practice of planting by the signs is still observed by believers.

Among the civilizations of the Orient, astrology has long been a part of religion and daily life. Astrologers in Asia ply their trade on every other street corner and their charts determine the marriage, burial etc. of kings. The marriage of the American girl, Hope Cook, to the Crown Prince of Sikkim was postponed for a year until March, 1963, as charted by the prince's astrologer.

Astrology has become big business. Even non-believers can't ignore the boom. It is everywhere in evidence. Within the past 10 years, forty million people in the United States alone have suddenly begun to take an interest. They include well-educated men and women who are already successful in their careers and private lives, businessmen and astute politicians, as well as intelligent young people. Some depend on astrology for advice and direction in their everyday activity. Others have it as a hobby and still others regard it as an amusing parlor game.

Today, two out of three newspapers carry a horoscope column of some kind as well as television and radio programs and commercials. The top newspaper astrologers are Carol Righter, whose daily column is found in The Herald, Sidney Omarr and Constella. The sale of astrology magazines and annual horoscope guides has jumped beyond imagination. Many stores have such books as "The Astrology Way To The Stock Market Profits," astrological cookbooks, zodiac sign bracelet charms, splashy pins and diamond brooches. Some bankers offer checkbooks imprinted with his customer's zodiac sign.

A Long Island man charts stock-market fluctuations according to the planets. He holds the theory that if sun-spots affect crops, they also affect commodity and stock market prices. Some companies have computerized reading outlets and several large cities subscribe to zodiactronics service by way of the telephone any hour of the day.

What first triggered today's big boom in astrology was probably the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963. At least three better known astrologers had predicted when he was elected in 1960 that he would not serve out his full term as president. At that time not many people took note of that prophecy, but three years later the newspapers dug them up from their files and made front page stories of them.

Astrologers point out that an event known as a conjunction occurs every 20 years when the planets Saturn and Jupiter come close together. For 100 years every President inaugurated in the year of this conjunction has died in office. Lincoln who took office in 1861, Garfield in 1881, McKinley in 1901, Harding, in 1921, Roosevelt in 1941 and Kennedy in 1961. Four out of the six were murdered.

She concluded by saying that most people won't admit they believe in it but most of them know the sun sign of their birth date. Most astrologers generally advise in the final analysis to bear in mind that while the 12 zodiac signs may determine this or that facet of your personality, what you do with it is up to you.

Club president, Mrs. William Curtiss, presided during the business meeting. She announced that Miss Elizabeth Tolbert and Dr. Nancy Holman were recently appointed co-chairmen of the 1973-74 program committee.

Southeast District Director Speaker For DAR Meeting

Mrs. Robert W. Hagan, State Director of the Southeast District was the guest speaker at the January meeting of the Pickaway Plains Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution at the Museum meeting room.

Regent, Mrs. Joseph Peters, opened the chapter in ritualistic form with Mrs. R. R. Bales, chaplain, assisting. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America was led by the flag chairman, Mrs. Daniel Eitel. The chapter sang the first stanza of "The Star-Spangled Banner" accompanied by Mrs. Martin Cromley.

Mrs. Emerson Spicer read the President General's message. National Defense was given by Mrs. Judd Dresbach chairman of National Defense. Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Paul Cromley, reported that 13 notes and Christmas cards had been sent to members who were ill. Mrs. J. Leroy Frazier reported the sale of 36 cookbooks.

The Regent welcomed a new member, Miss Martha Kay Elen Thomas.

Mrs. Henry Bartholomew introduced the speaker, Mrs. Hagan, who gave an entertaining and peppy talk on DAR projects. She spoke of the state regent's project, "Miss Jane" a doll for which each chapter is expected to make costumes. This doll is to be given to the lucky number holder.

Men: Reign Of The Mane Is On The Wane

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The reign of the mane is on the wane. Men have begun to wear their hair shorter, say barbers and hair stylists from cities like New York, Los Angeles, Atlanta and Denver. Not shortshort. But a lot shorter than a year ago. And many stylists believe short hair is now "in" for women, too. "All of a sudden the men who were letting their hair go below their shoulders have begun putting the shears closer to the ears," says Phil Angelo, president of the American Society of Men's Hair Stylists. At an international coiffure convention in Crans, Switzerland, last week, Paris coiffeur Robert Guery predicted that super-long manes for males are definitely doomed and that hiplength hairdos for girls are also on the way out.

Acting as spokesman for the convention, Guery said 1973 will see different lengths of hair, but none of them "excessive." Moderate lengths already are in among males, he said, "and those sporting them keep their hair very well groomed."

Why shorter hair? It's easier to manage, say the men, who are tired of struggling with hand dryers and split ends. Also, hair doesn't go with the trend to neat, natty fashions. Besides, long hair isn't a shock to the older generation anymore. In fact, they've followed suit, in a moderate way.

Short hair abounds around film studios, boutiques and art galleries in Los Angeles. Hair cutters in celebrated Beverly Hills salons report 60 to 90 per cent of their clients — men and women — are going in for shorter hair.

Board Hears Lukens Case

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens told the Butler County Board of Elections today that application of a law preventing him from running for elective office for five years would be "an undue burden" upon him.

Lukens testified concerning reasons for his lateness in filing a campaign expense account.

Ohio law required filing of such a document with election officials by Dec. 22, but Lukens' account was received early this month.

Ohio Sec. of State Ted W. Brown disqualified Lukens from running for office for five years because of the late filing.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

Governor John J. Gilligan, in a presentation to both Houses of the General Assembly last Wednesday evening, submitted a budget for the coming biennium which suggested spending more than 73 per cent of the state's general fund in key areas of primary and secondary education, higher education, welfare and property tax relief.

34.4 per cent of the total appropriation or $1,662,000,000 would be earmarked for primary and secondary education. Another 14.8 per cent of $715.4 tenths million would be appropriated for higher education.

In the areas of services, 17.1 per cent would be used for welfare and 10.5 per cent for mental health and mental retardation and other human service.

The Governor also asked that the legislature give him the authority to conduct a study of the higher education system within the State of Ohio and that a task force refer back recommendations to the General Assembly regarding both higher education and welfare.

Chairman, George Tablack, of the House Ways and Means Committee, started hearings on a proposed constitutional amendment (HJR 13) to value agricultural land for taxation on the basis of current use.

The first hearing, Representative Johnson of Wayne County and prime sponsor of the bill, testified on behalf of the need for the constitutional amendment.

The resolution is sponsored by Rep. Johnson and 40 other members of the Ohio House. The purpose of the constitutional amendment is to attempt to amend the constitution so that land actively devoted to agricultural use which has been so devoted during two years prior to the current tax year will be valued for taxation on the basis of its current use.

An Ohio Supreme Court ruling calls for taxing agricultural lands on current market value.

The House Finance Committee began hearings this past Tuesday on the federal revenue sharing fund bill (H.B. 40).

The bill would provide for funding of all the vocational schools where voters have approved levies for construction of buildings within the next two years. Also included are funds which would provide the engineering cost and opening cost of the state fish hatchery presently scheduled to be built at Tappan Lake.

Testimony before the committee included that of the Director of the Department of Natural Resources in which he indicated that some $500,000 would be the starting funds needed for the research and engineering at Tappan Lake.

Crime Grants Approved For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Grants totalling $198,776 have been approved for use in Ohio to help fight crime. The funds, made available under the federal Omnibus Crime Control Act, were awarded by Dr. David Sweet, Director of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Among the grants are two for Cuyahoga County, both for fighting narcotics and drug-related crime.

Other grants include: —$30,000 for the Delaware police department to set up a community relations office and to train several members of the department.

—$20,000, for renovation of the heating and ventilation systems at the Lake County jail.

—A grant totaling $19,300 to provide police radio communications equipment for three Franklin County communities.

—$18,476 for renovation of the Wyandot County jail, and to provide a small juvenile detention area.

Trees, Shrubs For Wildlife Available

Trees and shrubs for wildlife food and cover are available from the Division of Wildlife, Ohio Department of Natural Resources. Interested farmers and other rural landowners should contact local game protector Tom Weldon now to apply for wildlife habitat planting stock.

A shortage of food and a lack of well distributed cover make the winter and spring a critical period of the year for wildlife. Supplemental plantings of desirable wildlife habitat are important to the maintenance of existing wildlife populations, Weldon says.

Now is a good time to evaluate land to decide which field corners, fence-rows, farm pond areas and woodland borders are best suited for planting.

Farmers and landowners with 30 or more acres who permit some hunting on their land are eligible to receive planting stock. Planning services and several publications on wildlife food and cover plantings are also available.

Several varieties of trees and shrubs including white pine, red pine, autumn olive and multiflora rose may be obtained from the Division of Wildlife. February 1, is the deadline for submitting applications for this spring's planting stock.

Half Male Auto Deaths Among Young

LONDON (AP) — Road accidents cut a year from the life expectancy of males, compared with only a month for all infectious diseases, says Dr. John Havard, undersecretary of the British Medical Association.

He told a Royal Society of Health congress that nearly half the male deaths in countries where the auto is common were among drivers in the 15 to 24 age group.

High Court Wipes Out Curbs On 1st 3 Months Abortions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today barred the states from interfering with the decision of a woman and her doctor to end pregnancies within the first three months.

In the 7-2 decision striking down the Texas abortion law, Justice Harry A. Blackmun said medical data indicates abortion in the first three months, "although not without its risk, is now relatively safe."

Therefore, he said, "any interest of the state in protecting the woman from an inherently hazardous procedure ... has largely disappeared."

The ruling followed two years of deliberations by the justices. It was based predominantly on what Blackmun called a right of privacy. He said the right "is broad enough to encompass a woman's decision whether or not to terminate her pregnancy."

Justices Byron R. White and William H. Rehnquist dissented. White said he could "find nothing in the language or history of the Constitution to support the court's judgment."

Rehnquist, meanwhile, said "the court's sweeping invalidation of any restrictions on abortion during the first trimester is impossible to justify..."

Blackmun's opinion rejected the theory pressed by abortion foes that a fetus is a "person" within constitutional terms and must be protected by the state.

He said that in the Constitution "use of the word is such that it has application only postnatally."

Blackmun added: "We need not resolve the difficult question of when life begins. When those trained in the respective disciplines of medicine, philosophy and theology are unable to arrive at any consensus, the judiciary, at this point in the development of man's knowledge, is not in a position to speculate as to the answers."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren
No Redress For Dress Code

DEAR ABBY: Man, do we have a problem! About 100 junior and senior high school students in Oklahoma need your help. Ours is a smalltown school and the school board is so old fashioned it isn't even funny. They set up a dress code for girls saying we can't wear our dresses any shorter than three inches above our kneecaps. And they even tell the boys how long to wear their hair. They can't even have it any longer than their collars.

Abby, everyone is so uptight here they are failing in their work. Do you honestly believe that a person's dress affects his behavior?

IN JAIL IN MULBROW, OKLA. DEAR IN: I hate to let you down, but serious studies show that a person's dress DOES affect his behavior. Kids who dress like they're going to a hayride are more inclined to horse around.

DEAR ABBY: I came up with what I thought was a brilliant idea in the way of New Year's resolutions for married folk.

The husband should make up a list of resolutions for his wife to follow, and the wife should make up a list of resolutions for her husband to follow. For example, he might have me resolve never to ask him to stop on his way home and pick up something from the store, because that's my job and I have all day to do it. And I might have him resolve always to call me and tell me if he knows he'll be late getting home.

My husband told me he thought it was very foolish idea and I should forget it.

Personally, I can't see what anyone would have to lose except some bad habits that irritates the spouse. On Jan. 1, both parties would sit down together, exchange lists, and bargain. You know, "Okay, I'll agree to Number One on your list, if you'll agree to Number Two on mine."

What do you think of this idea?

MRS. T. IN JOPLIN, MO. DEAR MRS. T.: I think it's so good, since it missed New Year's, any Monday morning would be a good starting date.

DEAR ABBY: You wrote, "You will always be your mother's daughter regardless of WHO your father's wife is." You are wrong. I should be "WHOM" because the entire phrase "who your father's wife is," is the object of the preposition "of."

Should your experts on English language prove me incorrect, I bow to the fact that language usage is a lagging thing, and as such is always changing.

WIFE AND TEACHER DEAR WIFE AND TEACHER: Don't teach the above, because you are wrong. "Who" is correct, because it is the subject of the clause, not the object.

DEAR ABBY: With all the publicity about breast cancer, I have yet to read one line stating that it's possible for men to have breast cancer. They can. I should know because I did.

I discovered two lumps in the region of my right breast. I went to a doctor and found that, indeed, I had breast cancer.

It's been a year since my surgery, and I continue to be "clean" simply because I saw the doctor in time. I am 48.

T.J., HOLLYWOOD CALIF., DEAR T.J.: I, for one, learned something new today. Thanks for writing.

CITY WARDS — The Pickaway County Board of Elections has permitted The Herald to run a copy of new city wards which will be in effect for May's primary election. Wards were changed Dec. 1971 by an act of city council, but the actual changeover could not be enforced until this year. Citizens are asked to check their exact ward and precinct if they intend to sign petitions, run for office or vote. Several men have sought petitions, for the ballot. Kenneth Curl, 240 Sunset, has requested a petition for councilman-at-large post and Burl Wiggins, 583 Northridge Road, has asked for a petition for 1st Ward councilman. Curl is a Republican and Wiggins a Democrat. Fritz F. Jacobs, Jr., Apt. 3, 130 Seyfert Ave., has requested a petition for 1st Ward councilman as a Republican, Tommy M. Wells, 340 Walnut Creek Pike, has requested a petition for the councilman-at-large seat, and Everett P. Stocklen, 146 E. High St., will be a candidate for city treasurer.

Trees, Shrubs For Wildlife Available

Trees and shrubs for wildlife food and cover are available from the Division of Wildlife, Ohio Department of Natural Resources. Interested farmers and other rural landowners should contact local game protector Tom Weldon now to apply for wildlife habitat planting stock.

A shortage of food and a lack of well distributed cover make the winter and spring a critical period of the year for wildlife. Supplemental plantings of desirable wildlife habitat are important to the maintenance of existing wildlife populations, Weldon says.

Now is a good time to evaluate land to decide which field corners, fence-rows, farm pond areas and woodland borders are best suited for planting.

Farmers and landowners with 30 or more acres who permit some hunting on their land are eligible to receive planting stock. Planning services and several publications on wildlife food and cover plantings are also available.

Several varieties of trees and shrubs including white pine, red pine, autumn olive and multiflora rose may be obtained from the Division of Wildlife. February 1, is the deadline for submitting applications for this spring's planting stock.

Half Male Auto

Deaths Among Young

LONDON (AP) — Road accidents cut a year from the life expectancy of males, compared with only a month for all infectious diseases, says Dr. John Havard, undersecretary of the British Medical Association.

He told a Royal Society of Health congress that nearly half the male deaths in countries where the auto is common were among drivers in the 15 to 24 age group.

High Court Wipes Out Curbs On 1st 3 Months Abortions

New Hot Line To Help Ohio's Consumers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Don't feel let down when a tape recording answers Ohio's new environment hot-line next month.

Roundtown Players Plan "Jack And The Giant"

Audience participation is one of the highlights of Roundtown Players' next production, "Jack and the Giant", a play based on the "Jack in the Beanstalk" story, which will run Feb. 10 and 11 at the Memorial Hall theater. Mrs. Diane Berger is director of the production and Mrs. Edith Grigg is her assistant.

An experienced and capable actress as well as director, Mrs. Berger states, "I am excited about this production because it is not only for children, but two-thirds of the cast are children, and their enthusiasm is contagious. This is also Roundtown Players' first venture with animal characters who ad-lib with the audience, thereby making the audience a part of the show."

Besides appearing in OSU productions "Showboat" and "Guys and Dolls", Mrs. Berger has also been in four Roundtown Players productions, the most recent being "My Fair Lady" in which she portrayed Mrs. Pearce. She began her directing career in 1970 with "The Elves and the Shoemaker." Other productions under her direction have been "Sleeping Beauty" and "Backwoods Genesis."

The fact that Circleville has a Children's Theater is largely due to the efforts of assistant director Mrs. Edith Grigg, who urged its incorporation as a regular part of Roundtown Players in 1971. The first production was "Magic Train."

Acting credits for Mrs. Grigg include "Witness for the Prosecution" and

13 Year Old Murder Case Reopened

County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt has been notified that John Leslie Teets, a Pickaway County farmhand has been restored to sanity and will be able to stand trial for the 1959 murder of his wife.

Mary Frances Teets was killed early in September thirteen years ago by a shotgun blast in her face. Her husband confessed to the shooting to Sheriff Charles Radcliff noting that it had occurred after the couple argued about a trip to Columbus.

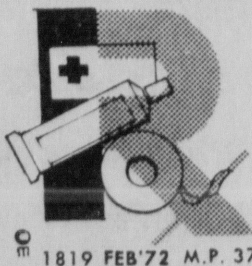

The shooting took place in a lane leading to Teets' Monroe Twp. home off the Whiteside-Lister Mill Road.

Officials of Lima State Hospital announced their recent evaluation of Teets' sanity after the accused killer had spent 13 years at the institution. He is now 60 years old.

Teets is presently in custody in the Pickaway County jail awaiting court appointment of counsel for his defense. The prosecutor indicates his office is prepared to bring Teets to trial before a jury on the second degree murder indictment brought by grand jurors in October, 1959.

She feels that Children's Theater has many merits including the unique learning situation it provides for participant and observer. OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Weather Service's summary of Ohio weath-

Heavy cloudiness, cold temperatures, brisk winds and some light drizzle or snow flurries described the weather over Ohio Monday night and early this morning. Temperatures were in the 30s early Tuesday morning and expected to change little during the day. Precipitation was very spotty and very light with no accumulations.

Cloudy skies with brisk winds will continue today with a chance of a few light snow flurries in the northern counties and some light drizzle in the central and southern counties mainly this morning.

Afternoon temperatures will be mainly in the upper 30s and lower 40s. Cloudy to partly cloudy skies tonight will allow temperatures by Wednesday morning to lower into the 20s. Some sunshine will be visible at times on Wednesday but temperatures will continue cold with readings once again in the upper 30s and 40s.

The extended outlook through Saturday indicates slow warming with daytime highs in the 40s and 50s and night time lows mainly in the 30s. Little or no precipitation is forecast through Saturday.

A real, live woman will deal with all complaints.

"The recording just lets us receive more calls," said the real, live woman behind the tape, Mrs. Adelle Mitchell, newly appointed ombudsman for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

"I hope it doesn't turn people off."

Mrs. Mitchell, Columbus housewife, biologist and mother, really doesn't expect the toll-free hot-line to languish without business.

"It'll get a great deal of use," she said. "A citizen is concerned about a multitude of things — open burning, well pollution, air pollution, open dumping and burning at dump sites. "Some times a citizen doesn't know where to take his complaint. Now he can call on the hot-line for help. That's my job."

Environmental questions often overlap divisions or departments and part of the new ombudsman's job is to steer complaints to the proper place.

Perhaps a complaint will be against an industry already ordered to comply with anti-pollution standards. Mrs. Mitchell will so advise the complainant.

Whatever the problem, a member of the EPA said, Mrs. Mitchell is "a good listener, one who really knows her field." She has a master's degree in biology from the University of Vermont.

Mrs. Mitchell emphasized that she is available to industries as well as individuals. "Small industries are going to have problems in procedures for appeals," she said, but her major concern was to let Ohioans know she acts as a middleman between a citizen and the government.

"The assumption," she said, "is often that you are a spokesman for the agency. In a way, I'm supposed to be the citizen spokesman."

"The biggest problem is to maintain a position of separation from the agency. Government often tends to look at things as groups. I find it very

Witnesses Hold Confab

Henry C. Brewer, District Director of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, was the keynote speaker at a two-day conference of Jehovah's Witnesses in Portsmouth, January 20 and 21. A peak attendance of 1,567 heard Brewer give the Bible's answer to the question "Is This Life All There Is?"

According to John Leedy, local presiding overseer, the conference was an extension of the regular training conducted in all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Another feature of the conference was the baptism service held Sunday morning when 47 new ministers symbolized their dedication to God by complete water immersion.

frustrating when people don't look at others as individuals."

"If there is a large number of complaints in an area where there is no legislation, then I will present a recommendation for such legislation," said Mrs. Mitchell, who doesn't expect to turn into a lobbyist.

Noise pollution is one area where she might feel impelled to recommend legislation. "All I can do now is find out if the municipality they live in has an ordinance that applies," she said of noise complaints.

"It's going to be frustrating," said Mrs. Mitchell, contemplating the job ahead. "You're getting into an area of overlapping authority. Many decisions are made, there are many different viewpoints. I expect the first few months to be overwhelming. That's why an ombudsman should know the law well."

Mrs. Mitchell became well-acquainted with environment legislation when she was environmental coordinator for the Columbus League of Women Voters.

She said her husband, a biology professor at Ohio State University, and her three children are interested in her new position. "They understand what my job is all about," she said, adding "I hope" with a quick smile.

Divorce Rate Does Not Rank Near County Marriages

Licenses to marry were granted to 400 couples in Pickaway County in 1972, according to probate court records.

But a license to marry does not necessarily assure compatibility as proved by the 163 marriages separated last year in the common pleas court.

These statistics are interwoven as some parties of divorce were in return candidates for remarriage and some newlyweds made it on the books for a divorce before the year's end. All in all, marriage seems to be holding its own.

The best month in Pickaway County to marry is in August, followed closely by July, then December. Licenses issued in August totalled 55, with 52 in July and 40 in December. Least interest in marriage licenses was noted in March and April, with 20 licenses each granted.

Oddly enough, July (36) ranks as the most popular month of the year in which to file for divorce, although May (21) was the month in which most divorces were granted. Only nine divorces were terminated in October, the month recording the fewest.

During the entire year, 268 new divorces were filed in the court docket, but 132 of the couple's cases were dismissed.

Gasoline Tax Distribution Made

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson has announced the final distribution to the 918 cities and villages of gasoline taxes, based on the 1971 motor vehicle registration year.

Total payments to the municipalities in Pickaway County was $9,599. Circleville received $6,435, the largest amount.

Other villages received: Commercial Point, $424; Harrisburg, $43; New Holland, $316; Orient, $677; South Bloomfield, $459; Tarlton, $471; Williamsport, $774.

We're planning for a brighter tomorrow. Don't waste gas today.

Columbia Gas is striving to assure that clean-burning natural gas will be available for home, business and industry for years to come. We're reaching out for vast new sources of supply—from Alaska, from under the sea and overseas, from deep under the green hills of Appalachia . . . even from coal.

Achieving these goals is still dependent upon government cooperation. Our plans for the future are sound. But, right now, natural gas is in short supply. More clean-burning gas is needed to sustain our community's economic and environmental well-being. There are several things you can do right in your own home to help ease the shortage of valuable natural gas.

Easy things. Like turning your thermostat down to a comfortable temperature and not changing it.

Have a heating dealer check your furnace to make sure it is operating efficiently.

Keep your furnace filters clean. Even on the coldest winter day, the sun will help heat your home. Open the drapes and let the sun shine in.

At night, or on cloudy days, it's smart to close your drapes to help keep the warm in.

Write to Columbia Gas for a free booklet, "30 Ways to Save."

Observe these suggestions and you'll use less gas. Help make tomorrow brighter.

New Hot Line To Help Ohio's Consumers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Don't feel let down when a tape recording answers Ohio's new environment hot-line next month.

A real, live woman will deal with all complaints.

"The recording just lets us receive more calls," said the real, live woman behind the tape, Mrs. Adelle Mitchell, newly appointed ombudsman for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

"I hope it doesn't turn people off."

Mrs. Mitchell, Columbus housewife, biologist and mother, really doesn't expect the toll-free hot-line to languish without business.

"It'll get a great deal of use," she said. "A citizen is concerned about a multitude of things — open burning, well pollution, air pollution, open dumping and burning at dump sites."

"Some times a citizen doesn't know where to take his complaint. Now he can call on the hot-line for help. That's my job."

Environmental questions often overlap divisions or departments and part of the new ombudsman's job is to steer complaints to the proper place.

Perhaps a complaint will be against an industry already ordered to comply with anti-pollution standards. Mrs. Mitchell will so advise the complainant.

Whatever the problem, a member of the EPA said, Mrs. Mitchell is "a good listener, one who really knows her field." She has a master's degree in biology from the University of Vermont.

Mrs. Mitchell emphasized that she is available to industries as well as individuals. "Small industries are going to have problems in procedures for appeals," she said, but her major concern was to let Ohioans know she acts as a middleman between a citizen and the government.

"The assumption," she said, "is often that you are a spokesman for the agency. In a way, I'm supposed to be the citizen spokesman."

"The biggest problem is to maintain a position of separation from the agency. Government often tends to look at things as groups. I find it very frustrating when people don't look at others as individuals."

"If there is a large number of complaints in an area where there is no legislation, then I will present a recommendation for such legislation," said Mrs. Mitchell, who doesn't expect to turn into a lobbyist.

Noise pollution is one area where she might feel impelled to recommend legislation. "All I can do now is find out if the municipality they live in has an ordinance that applies," she said of noise complaints.

"It's going to be frustrating," said Mrs. Mitchell, contemplating the job ahead. "You're getting into an area of overlapping authority. Many decisions are made, there are many different viewpoints. I expect the first few months to be overwhelming. That's why an ombudsman should know the law well."

Mrs. Mitchell became well-acquainted with environment legislation when she was environmental coordinator for the Columbus League of Women Voters.

She said her husband, a biology professor at Ohio State University, and her three children are interested in her new position. "They understand what my job is all about," she said, adding "I hope" with a quick smile.

Divorce Rate Does Not Rank Near County Marriages

Licenses to marry were granted to 400 couples in Pickaway County in 1972, according to probate court records.

But a license to marry does not necessarily assure compatibility as proved by the 163 marriages separated last year in the common pleas court.

These statistics are interwoven as some parties of divorce were in return candidates for remarriage and some newlyweds made it on the books for a divorce before the year's end. All in all, marriage seems to be holding its own.

The best month in Pickaway County to marry is in August, followed closely by July, then December. Licenses issued in August totaled 55, with 52 in July and 40 in December. Least interest in marriage licenses was noted in March and April, with 20 licenses each granted.

Oddly enough, July (36) ranks as the most popular month of the year in which to file for divorce, although May (21) was the month in which most divorces were granted. Only nine divorces were terminated in October, the month recording the fewest.

During the entire year, 268 new divorces were filed in the court docket, but 132 of the couple's cases were dismissed.

Gasoline Tax Distribution Made

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson has announced the final distribution to the 918 cities and villages of gasoline taxes, based on the 1971 motor vehicle registration year.

Total payments to the municipalities in Pickaway County was $9,599. Circleville received $6,435, the largest amount.

Other villages received: Commercial Point, $424; Harrisburg, $43; New Holland, $316; Orient, $677; South Bloomfield, $459; Tarlton, $471; Williamsport, $774.

Roundtown Players Plan "Jack And The Giant"

Audience participation is one of the highlights of Roundtown Players' next production, "Jack and the Giant", a play based on the "Jack in the Beanstalk" story, which will run Feb. 10 and 11 at the Memorial Hall theater.

Mrs. Diane Berger is director of the production and Mrs. Edith Grigg is her assistant.

An experienced and capable actress as well as director, Mrs. Berger states, "I am excited about this production because it is not only for children, but two-thirds of the cast are children, and their enthusiasm is contagious. This is also Roundtown Players' first venture with animal characters who ad-lib with the audience, thereby making the audience a part of the show."

Besides appearing in OSU productions "Showboat" and "Guys and Dolls", Mrs. Berger has also been in four Roundtown Players productions, the most recent being "My Fair Lady" in which she portrayed Mrs. Pearce. She began her directing career in 1970 with "The Elves and the Shoemaker." Other productions under her direction have been "Sleeping Beauty" and "Backwoods Genesis."

The fact that Circleville has a Children's Theater is largely due to the efforts of assistant director Mrs. Edith Grigg, who urged its incorporation as a regular part of Roundtown Players in 1971. The first production was "Magic Train."

Acting credits for Mrs. Grigg include "Witness for the Prosecution" and

13 Year Old Murder Case Reopened

County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt has been notified that John Leslie Teets, a Pickaway County farmhand has been restored to sanity and will be able to stand trial for the 1959 murder of his wife.

Mary Frances Teets was killed early in September thirteen years ago by a shotgun blast in her face. Her husband confessed to the shooting to Sheriff Charles Radcliff noting that it had occurred after the couple argued about a trip to Columbus.

The shooting took place in a lane leading to Teets' Monroe Twp. home off the Whiteside-Lister Mill Road.

Officials of Lima State Hospital announced their recent evaluation of Teets' sanity after the accused killer had spent 13 years at the institution. He is now 60 years old.

Teets is presently in custody in the Pickaway County jail awaiting court appointment of counsel for his defense. The prosecutor indicates his office is prepared to bring Teets to trial before a jury on the second degree murder indictment brought by grand jurors in October, 1959.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Weather Service's summary of Ohio weather:

Heavy cloudiness, cold temperatures, brisk winds and some light drizzle or snow flurries described the weather over Ohio Monday night and early this morning. Temperatures were in the 30s early Tuesday morning and expected to change little during the day. Precipitation was very spotty and very light with no accumulations.

Cloudy skies with brisk winds will continue today with a chance of a few light snow flurries in the northern counties and some light drizzle in the central and southern counties mainly this morning.

Afternoon temperatures will be mainly in the upper 30s and lower 40s. Cloudy to partly cloudy skies tonight will allow temperatures by Wednesday morning to lower into the 20s. Some sunshine will be visible at times on Wednesday but temperatures will continue cold with readings once again in the upper 30s and 40s.

The extended outlook through Saturday indicates slow warming with daytime highs in the 40s and 50s and night time lows mainly in the 30s. Little or no precipitation is forecast through Saturday.

Witnesses Hold Confab

Henry C. Brewer, District Director of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, was the keynote speaker at a two-day conference of Jehovah's Witnesses in Portsmouth, January 20 and 21. A peak attendance of 1,567 heard Brewer give the Bible's answer to the question "Is This Life All There Is?"

According to John Leedy, local presiding overseer, the conference was an extension of the regular training conducted in all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses. Another feature of the conference was the baptism service held Sunday morning when 47 new ministers symbolized their dedication to God by complete water immersion.

Oil Companies Rapped

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The head of a group of independent gasoline retailers in northeastern Ohio has charged major U.S. oil companies with manufacturing a false impression that there will be a shortage of gasoline in the near future.

Columbia Gas is striving to assure that clean-burning natural gas will be available for home, business and industry for years to come.

We're reaching out for vast new sources of supply — from Alaska, from under the sea and overseas, from deep under the green hills of Appalachia... even from coal.

Achieving these goals is still dependent upon government cooperation.

Our plans for the future are sound. But, right now, natural gas is in short supply.

More clean-burning gas is needed to sustain our community's economic and environmental well-being. There are several things you can do right in your own home to help ease the shortage of valuable natural gas.

Easy things. Like turning your thermostat down to a comfortable temperature and not changing it.

Have a heating dealer check your furnace to make sure it is operating efficiently.

Elections Board Ponders Evidence In Lukens Case

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The Butler County Board of Elections is delaying any decision in the case of state Sen. Donald "Buz" Lukens until all board members can review testimony made at a hearing Monday.

Lukens, who appeared at the hearing along with his attorney, John Zonak, is trying to free himself of a five-year suspension from seeking an elective office in Ohio.

Ohio Secretary of State Ted Brown invoked the suspension after being informed by the board of elections that it had not received an expense account for Lukens' recent, successful senate campaign until after the Dec. 22 deadline.

Three of the board's four members heard testimony Monday but the other member, Ralph Pagana, is hospitalized.

Board member Richard Koehler said he doesn't know just how much meaning, if any, a board decision will have.

"Do you feel this board has discretion to decide anything in this case?" Koehler asked Zonak.

Zonak said he believes the board does have authority to rule in the matter.

The board was told by Brown to hear testimony and take evidence in the Lukens' case, but wasn't given any other specific instructions.

Zonak said Brown "apparently has prejudged" the case.

Lukens contended he mailed the expense account prior to Dec. 22, but sent a second one to the elections board office after being notified none had been received. The board said it received an account Jan. 3.

Lukens said that a "false alarm" call from an employee in the county recorder's office had contributed to lateness of his second expense account.

Lukens said that Jean Cotton of the recorder's office had called to tell him he owed a $5 candidate registration fee, but he informed her that only county officials, not statewide, had to pay the fee.

When the elections board called three times before the Dec. 22 deadline to ask about his expense account, Lukens said his office believed mistakenly that the board was referring to the question of the $5 fee.

Lukens also submitted an affidavit signed by Jean Angel, a senate secretary, saying she prepared a statement of receipts and expenditures for Lukens about 10-14 days before Dec. 22.

She said Lukens signed the statement and returned it to her with instructions it be mailed that day. Mrs. Angel said she personally took the document to the Senate mail room and placed it beside a mail metering machine, but she gave no indication she saw the document placed in the mail.

Canton Lehman Near Top In Cage Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Canton Lehman continues its spectacular rise in The Associated Press state high school basketball ratings and now is just one point away from the Class AAA lead.

The Polar Bears were ninth the first week of the ratings, No. 6 last week and No. 2 Monday with 179 points to 180 for Cleveland East Tech.

Coach Don Eddins' squad has put together a 25-game regular season winning streak.

However, Ohio's longest schoolboy victory string still belongs to Class A poll pacesetter Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South with 37 in a row.

Indian Valley South, the defending Class AA state tournament champion, collected 189 points to 166 for runnerup Marion Pleasant.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcaster also kept Waverly solidly entrenched in the Class AAA lead. The Tigers, 10-0, picked up 190 points to 132 for Columbus Ready, the new runnerup in the middle division. Ready has a 10-2 record.

East Tech, 11-2, had been tied with Hamilton Taft for the Class AAA leadership last week. Taft, however, lost to Cincinnati Princeton and tumbled to the No. 5 spot.

Barberton, breezing along with a 13-0 record, leaped five positions into third place in Class AAA while Newark held the No. 4 rung.

Mansfield Senior, third last week, took a 77-63 loss from Lorain King and dropped to No. 6. Columbus South was seventh, Boardman eighth, Springfield South ninth and Middletown tenth.

Willard, 13-0, leaped from fifth to third in Class AA and was followed by Steubenville Catholic, Rossford, Poland, Huron, Gallipolis, Albany Alexander and new face Tipp City, in order.

Fort Recovery, 14-0, remained the third-place power in Class A and then came Wapakoneta St. Joseph, Sebring, McDonald, Zanesville Rosecrans, Fostoria St. Wendelin, Strasburg and Greenwich South Central, new to the top ten.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school basketball teams this week for The Associated Press (10 points for first to one point for tenth):

George Foreman Takes Crown From Frazier

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — The boxing world woke up today with a new heavyweight champion, a 24-year-old former delinquent whose mild manners and tender heart belie a pair of the most devastating fists the game has seen.

George Foreman sent Joe Frazier spinning to the ice blue canvas six times Monday night and stopped the fierce, hardpunching defending champ in 1:35 of the second round in a staggering upset.

Foreman appeared almost on the verge of tears moments afterwards when newsmen swooped down on him in his tight little dressing room in the catacombs of Kingston's National Stadium.

"I didn't want to hurt him any more," he said. "I kept begging Yancey Durham (Frazier's trainer and manager) to stop it."

The swiftness of the turnover of boxing's most prized crown was almost unbelievable.

Frazier, a brawling ex-slaughterhouse butcher, had flailed his way through 29 opponents as a pro, knocking out 25 of them, and 22 months ago had beaten Muhammad Ali in the so-called Fight of the Century.

Matched against the untested Foreman on this sultry tropical island in a bizarre atmosphere, Frazier had been installed a 3 1/2 to 1 favorite.

Certainly, he and his supporters had no idea that he would lose the title under such circumstances and thus forfeit what promoters had said would be a $20 million extravaganza between Frazier and Ali in June, probably in Houston's Astrodome.

Now the heavyweight division is in disarray. Foreman is the new king and will call the shots. Neither Frazier, who insists he wants a rematch, nor Ali, who is waiting in the wings, is in his immediate future.

"I am not thinking about any big fights now," he said afterwards. "I want a long rest. I want to go home and see my new daughter."

"After that, I want to go all around the country—to Houston and cities like that—and talk to kids. I want to tell them they can do anything they want if they try. I am an example."

Tiger Juniors Rip Laurelville

Circleville's seventh grade cagers opened up an overwhelming 48-7 lead at the end of the third quarter and then went to the bench as the little Tigers downed Laurelville, 48-31, Monday on the junior high floor.

They led 17-3 at the first period buzzer and upped the count to 24-6 at the halftime before breaking the game wide open with 24 points in a torrid third canto.

Larry Reed paced Circleville with 16 points, Marc Albright had 10, Dave Marshall eight, Mark Beck four, Roy Huffer three, Ronnie Hill and Ben Brian each had two while Toren Bensonhaver, Mike Brudzinski and Todd Mancini each added one.

Coach Ron Malone named Reed and Albright as offensive players of the week and Marshall as the defensive player.

Circleville is now 4-1 for the season and will play at Laurelville Feb. 1.

Ramsey In Nets

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Toledo goalie Glenn Ramsay, the Grand Old Man of the International Hockey League, will be in the nets for the North squad tonight when the IHL All-Star game resumes in Hara Arena.

The midsummer classic hasn't been played since 1970 in Toledo.

Hadl, Tilleman And Unitas On Pro Football Move List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pro football travel business picked up Monday with Johnny Unitas bound for San Diego, Mike Tilleman heading for Atlanta and John Hadl apparently waitlisted on a flight to somewhere in National Football League country.

Unitas, Baltimore's 17-year super quarterback but victim of a youth movement last season, was sent packing from the Colts to the San Diego Chargers for what Baltimore General Manager Joe Thomas called "future considerations." He declined to elaborate.

Then, the Houston Oilers sent disgruntled defensive tackle Mike Tilleman to Atlanta for the Falcons' first choice in next week's NFL draft.

Unitas, who has completed more passes for more yardage and more touchdowns than any other passer in NFL history but is closing in on his 40th birthday, had insisted since he was benched in favor of youthful Marty Domres after five 1972 games that he would not return to the Colts. Still, he wasn't ecstatic about a trip to San Diego.

"Just because I've been traded doesn't mean I'll be going to the West Coast," he said. "For one thing, I don't know if it's legal. I'll just have to sit down and look at things and then talk with the San Diego people."

The reference about the legality of the deal apparently concerned a 10-year $30,000-a-year personal services contract with the Colts, which is to begin when Unitas quits playing.

Hadl, San Diego's long-time quarterback, asked to be traded the day after the 1972 season. Coach Harland Svare said there was "a difference of philosophy" between the quarterback and Bob Schnelker, the team's offensive coach.

Informed that the Chargers had acquired Unitas, Hadl said, "Well, I'm leaving."

The only question apparently is where is he going?

Maryland Stages 105-76 Win Over Wake Forest

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

They struck up "Hail To The Chief" as usual when Lefty Driesell strolled into the arena, but the Maryland basketball coach got some sour notes along with it.

"Losing never does anybody any good," said Driesell, referring to boos he heard Monday night.

Driesell, who hasn't been too popular at College Park lately because of a recent crucial loss to Atlantic Coast Conference colleague North Carolina State, regained some of the popularity after Monday night's 105-76 victory over Wake Forest.

"We've been tight and scared in the last two games since losing to State," said Driesell, referring to a two-point loss at home to the Wolfpack two weeks ago that ended Maryland's unbeaten season.

Maryland, ranked No. 2 at the time, dropped to No. 3 in favor of North Carolina State. This week, the Terps are placed No. 4 in the Associated Press' latest poll—giving way to another ACC team, North Carolina.

In the other games involving ranked teams, No. 6 Indiana stopped Michigan State 97-89; No. 9 Alabama tripped Georgia Tech 89-83; No. 12 Southwestern Louisiana turned back Arkansas State 119-106; No. 13 Jacksonville blasted East Carolina 100-61 and 20th-ranked Purdue downed Wisconsin 66-59.

Maryland lost most of an 18-point lead, then exploded for 14 points during a two-minute span midway through the second half.

Tom McMillen, who led Maryland with 27 points, scored six during the string while Jim O'Brien and John Lucas added four apiece. Tony Byers poured in 30 points for Wake Forest.

Elsewhere, Duquesne stopped Notre Dame's five-game winning streak with an 81-72 triumph over the Fighting Irish; St. Louis took a 63-56 overtime victory over Southern Illinois; Vanderbilt nipped Kentucky 76-75; South Carolina ripped DePaul 84-66; Florida turned back Louisiana State 73-70 and Georgia defeated Auburn 68-64.

Eric Blind, brother of Pimlico starter, Eddie Blind, rode in the 1926 Preakness at the Baltimore track.

Mark Spitz Voted Top Male Athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Spitz buried his image as an Olympic choker under a wave of gold medals at the Munich Games and today was a landslide winner as 1972 Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year.

The mustachioed Californian polled 405 votes from a national panel of sports newsmen. Golfer Jack Nicklaus was runnerup with 62 and baseball pitcher Steve Carlton received 61.

Johnny Bench and Dick Allen, baseball sluggers from the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox, respectively, tied for fourth with 20 votes.

Spitz, a flop at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, churned to an unprecedented seven golds. He established a world record on every journey to the winner's platform.

His was the happy, heroic side of Munich. Spitz' final victory came eight hours before tragedy struck on that infamous Black Tuesday of murder and terror.

Spitz, a Jew, left in secrecy after Arab gunmen made a murderous intrusion at residence of Israel's Olympic team. He had to come home to feel like a hero again.

West Seeks 3rd All-Star Cage Win

CHICAGO (AP) — With Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Rick Barry missing, the West will be hard pressed tonight to score a third straight victory over the East in the National Basketball Association's 23rd All-Star game.

Chicago will host the classic for the first time and a capacity crowd of 20,000 is expected for the nationally televised contest, ABC, 9 p.m., EST.

Jabbar, the former Lew Alcindor and super star of the Milwaukee Bucks, announced his withdrawal Monday night for "personal reasons."

Barry, the high-scoring ace of the Golden State Warriors, suffered an ankle injury in Milwaukee Sunday and had to withdraw. Jabbar will be replaced by Bob Love of the Chicago Bulls and Barry's replacement will be Connie Hawkins of the Phoenix Suns.

It was not known to what extent Jabbar's withdrawal had to do with an incident over the weekend when seven members of a Muslim sect to which Jabbar belonged were killed in Washington, D.C. Jabbar once owned the residence where the killings took place but had donated it to the Muslim group.

Without Jabbar, West Coach Bill Sharman of the Los Angeles Lakers will have only two pivotmen—Wilt Chamberlain of the Lakers and Nate Thurmond of Golden State.

Burkholder Remains In Charge Of Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Burkholder, top assistant to Ohio State University basketball coach Fred Taylor, will handle the reins for the Buckeyes Saturday at Purdue while Taylor remains hospitalized.

A spokesman at Riverside Hospital said Monday the 48-year-old Taylor's condition was improving and that he has been removed from a coronary care unit.

New Arena Wanted For Cincinnati Hockey

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The head of the Cincinnati Hockey Club Corp. objects to a proposal to enlarge Cincinnati Gardens instead of building a new arena to house a proposed National Hockey League team.

Brian Heekin said Monday he was "surprised" by the proposal to Cincinnati City Council.

The Heekin group has been promised a franchise for Cincinnati for possibly as early as the 1974-75 season. The city is considering proposals for a 15,000-plus seat facility on the Ohio riverfront to house such a team.

Perry Spreads Praise For 'Man Of Year'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Indians pitcher Gaylord Perry was toasted as the Tribe's "Man of the Year" Monday night, but he modestly referred to at least a share of the glory to his catcher and his trainer. Perry told the annual Ribs and Roasts banquet in Cleveland. And he said trainer Jim Warfield "did a tremendous job of keeping me in shape and getting me ready for our games."

Minnesota Victor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here was Billy Klatt located behind the net with absolutely no chance of scoring.

That's what he thought, at least. But a funny bounce gave Klatt a goal and the goal gave Minnesota a 3-2 World Hockey Association victory over the New York Raiders Monday night.

In the only other WHA game played, Alberta trimmed Chicago 6-1. There were no games played in the National Hockey League.

1. Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere and heartfelt appreciation to so many wonderful people of this community for their acts of kindness and sympathy they have offered during the illness and death of our son and grandson Michael E. Wells.
Special thanks to Rev. Carl Zehner and all the wonderful prayers, from the other ministers of this community they offered during Michaels illness.
Dr. McCoy and his staff, Childrens Hospital, University Hospital and all the nurses and doctors. Thanks to Betty Shaw who helped Teresa and Jerry with the oxygen at the last few hours and anxious moments he was still with us.
Thanks to the Cancer Society and the Red Cross who helped in taking his mother and Mikie to the hospital these last few weeks and all the other women who have helped out in this year and a half, they have really been appreciated.
Thanks for the lovely floral offerings, donations to the Cancer Society, and Building Fund of the Lutheran Church. Special thanks to Mader Funeral Home for their kindness and special help and consoling words during the time of our grief. All have our special thanks and everlasting gratitude.
Daddy and Grandmother
Mrs. Elliott Wells

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are under excellent aspects to have your environmental conditions improved. This is an excellent day and evening for those interested in the ecology movement to study their surroundings and produce fine results. Take it easy and get a good rest tonight.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Find out what is expected of you by others and give them all the backing you can for mutual benefit. The evening could bring an annoying condition, but it will clear up. Avoid one who bickers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make those new arrangements with fellow workers that will bring more accord and more efficiency among you. A few new pieces to wardrobe can improve your appearance. Get right accessories.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are now able to put those creative ideas you have in operation with fine results following. Engage in the amusements that you enjoy. Much happiness can be yours tonight with the one you love.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) This is the right time to make the improvements at home that you feel are necessary. Find out how kin feels about them and combine efforts wisely. Make excellent plans for the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show in a tangible way that you appreciate your alliance with others who are important in your life. Try to increase your efficiency so the future is successful. Avoid one who annoys you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make the repairs to property that improves the appearance and adds to its value. Go over your budget and see where it can be improved. Don't try to economize on important items such as food.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take the time to improve your charm before you go out for recreation you enjoy. Make an excellent impression on others. Listen to ideas which a good friend gives you for your advancement.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) This is the right time to get into those personal affairs that have been difficult in the past. This helps you to expand more in the days ahead. You can prepare better for future activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are able to communicate better with friends now, so get together and come to a better understanding. Combine your efforts intelligently. Enjoy recreations you like. Don't retire too late.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to have more success and can attain it by busying yourself with increased activity. Take care of responsibilities so they are quickly behind you. Make future plans and then take it easy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A course of study now can add much to present knowledge and will help to command a greater income in the future. Make new allies and profit from their experience. Avoid one who is a hypocrite.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Follow your intuition and you will know how to improve your personal and business positions. Make sure you keep promises you have made to others. Don't let a hateful person get you down.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those magnetic young people who, upon reaching maturity, will have others seeking advice and information, since the success in life will come early because of the ability to communicate with others. The fields of entertainment and adornment are excellent. Sports are good early in life. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Three mid-season replacements in the current television year made their debuts over the weekend. One was merely good; the other two were great.

NBC's "Bobby Darin Show" is in the good category. It premiered Friday night with Darin in peak singing form.

It's fun to hear a singer who knows how to work with a big band. Too many vocalists fight them or get drowned out when the brass section kicks in.

Not Darin. He's in charge all the way. He's among the best of a vanishing breed — the skilled nightclub singer typified by such men as Tony Bennett and Joe Williams.

Darin's musical efforts were flawless and nicely complemented by the singing appearances of Burl Ives. Actress Dyan Cannon also took a turn at vocalizing and proved she is a good actress.

The over-all sheen of the show was dulled by flat comedy skits that just didn't come off.

Over at ABC, two great shows made their debut Saturday night. One was "Here We Go Again," the other "A Touch of Grace."

"Again" could be subtitled, "The Divorce That Came to Dinner." It's about a man and a woman, both divorced, who marry each other and settle down for another try at wedded bliss.

The problem is that the newlyweds, played by Larry Hagman and Diane Baker, live less than a mile from their respective former spouses, played by Dick Gautier and Nita Talbot.

This means they have the same friends, the same shopping centers and many miseries caused by running into their ex-spouses. It causes a certain amount of tension.

Ex-wife Judy, upon meeting her replacement, says, "And this must be Susan. You're much prettier than he described you."

Susan's sweet reply: "Thank you. You're much younger than he described you."

It's a funny show with good writing and acting from all concerned.

So is "Grace," despite an unlikely premise. It concerns an elderly widow (Shirley Booth) who is being wooed by an elderly gravedigger (J. Pat O'Malley).

"They say the older the bottle, the sweeter the wine," he tells her. To which she retorts: "Oh, they do, do they? Well, you better keep your cork in."

It's not a slam-bang "Maude" kind of show, but rather a quiet, carefully-sketched, warmly-written comedy about two lonely old people who manage to carry on with grace and humor.

It's worth seeing, if only to watch O'Malley stealing scenes like a genial burglar.

Mansfield Girl Named Junior Miss

MT. VERNON, Ohio (AP)—May's a long way off, but Kathy Lynn Bosko, a 17-year-old student at Madison High School in Mansfield, has started preparing for a trip to Mobile, Ala., and the finals of the National Junior Miss competition.

She won the Ohio Junior Miss title here over the weekend in competition with 19 other girls.

She also won in the poise and appearance division in preliminary judging.

The state title won for her $1,500 in scholarships, clothes and other prizes, as well as the trip to Mobile for the National Junior Miss Pageant.

First runner up was Thilathy Kavouras, 17, of Middletown, who also took honors in the talent division during the first of two nights of preliminary judging.

Second runnerup was Susan Swies, 17, of Gahanna, Junior Miss of Columbus. She won a preliminary award in the youth fitness section.

Diane Smith, 17, of Cincinnati, took the poise and appearance division in one evening of judging and was third runnerup.

A double award winner was Karen Sue Weber of Piqua, the Miami County Junior Miss. She gained preliminary tops during one round in both youth fitness and scholastic achievement.

A talent award winner during one of the two rounds was Cheryl Rutledge of Dayton.

Marti Driessnack of Dayton took the contest's friendship title.

Farm Bureau Membership Drive Starts

The Pickaway County Farm Bureau kicked off its 1973 membership campaign Monday.

Pickaway County is seeking a gain over last year's membership total of 524.

Leading the 1973 campaign will be membership co-chairman Mrs. Norman Wilson and Mrs. Ernest Enoch.

Each of the 86 Farm Bureaus is seeking to make a gain over last year. Total membership in the Ohio Farm Bureau for 1972 was 55,746 families. Farm Bureau is a voluntary farm organization whose purpose is to increase farm income and improve rural standards of living.

Holstein Group Holds Banquet

The District 5 Ohio Holstein Association held the annual banquet Saturday, at the Pickaway Arms Restaurant, Circleville.

President Carl Beery welcomed the members and introduced guests. Fairfield County's outstanding girl and boy, Sue Miller and Gary Hendershot, were recognized and presented gifts. Cal Wilcox, state secretary, told of upcoming events and reminded members that the membership drive is now on. Jim Lewis, well-known Holstein breeder, was the main speaker for the evening and gave a very enjoyable talk.

Election of officers for the coming year was held with the following results: Dewey Kennedy, president; Roger Schneider, vice-President; Mary Hines, secretary-Treasurer; Carl Beery, state director; Harold Cupp, district director; and Mary Ann Carter, news reporter.

Rhodes Real Estate License Object Of Investigation

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— State officials have promised to investigate reports that former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes and several Rhodes associates received real estate broker's licenses under unusual circumstances in the waning months of the Rhodes administration.

Rhodes denied any impropriety in the matter, noting, "My conduct has always been honorable...My actions, publicly or privately, are an open record and an open book."

Current State Commerce Department Director W. Dennis Shaul promised to investigate the reports, however, calling the situation "astounding." The Ohio Real Estate Commission, which issues the licenses, is a part of the commerce department.

Rhodes' license was issued on Jan. 7, 1971, four days before he left office and only three days after he applied for the license, although state law calls for a 30-day waiting period.

Similar licenses were issued between Jan. 7-12 to former Commerce Department Director J. Gordon Peltier, former Development Department Director F.P. Neuen-schwander, then-gubernatorial aide Roy Martin and former Motor Vehicles

Registrar Fred Rice.

Although no test score sheet is in Rhodes file, the former governor said that he was administered a special oral examination in the governor's office before the license was issued.

He said three commission members were present for the examination, although only one, former Commission President John H. Pace, said he remembered the special test.

Paul J. Everson of Cleveland, still a member, said he wasn't present for any test, and former Commissioner P.G. Graves of Cincinnati said he couldn't remember being there. The commission's executive secretary, Vernon B. McMillen, also denied he was present at any such test.

Normally, the test is administered to scores of applicants at the same time, and McMillen said he knew of no case where an oral examination had been substituted for a written one.

But McMillen said that Neuen-schwander, Martin and Rice did take "special examinations" administered privately at the commission headquarters, while Peltier said he took the examination in his office by himself.

Rhodes, who has headed the industrial development firm of James A.

Rhodes and Associates in Columbus since leaving office, said that he had not done any real estate brokerage business in the state since receiving the license.

Local Citizen Honored Today

Sterley Croman, Croman Farms and Hatchery, Route 4, was selected as WLW Radio Citizen of the Day for Saturday.

Croman is a life long resident of Pickaway County and just recently celebrated his 84th birthday. In 1968 he received the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce "Senior Citizen Award."

For many years the Croman Farm has been in the hatchery business. They were one of the first hatcheries in Ohio to sign a franchise with a nationally known poultrybreeder. They have been a DeKalb franchise hatchery for nearly 20 years.

Croman has traveled widely and presently the farms and hatchery are being operated by his son and wife Mr. and Mrs. Forest Croman.

EASTER SEAL CENTER VISITED—The Pickaway County Easter Seal Society recently visited the Franklin County Easter Seal Center. Johnson Rights Commitment Tardy, But Deep-Seated

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We Shall Overcome." The words of the civil-rights anthem rolled out across the nation in the distinct tones of the South. Lyndon Johnson of Texas was telling America to live up to its promise of equality.

The commitment to civil rights for blacks came late to Johnson—he had once voted against an antilynching law. But, when it came, it came with all the strength, cleverness and stubbornness that was in him, and there was plenty of all three.

And it stayed. When he stood before Congress and in front of television cameras in 1965 to say "we shall overcome," he was not spouting rhetoric convenient for a Democratic party leader.

In one of his last public acts, former President Lyndon Johnson stood on the steps of the library he had built as a monument to himself in Austin, Tex., to say America still owed its blacks what they deserved as a birthright—equality.

"To be black is not to stand on level ground," he said last Dec. 12, nearly four years past the time he needed to be concerned about acceptance.

But he was concerned; enough to spend an exhausting day trying to retie the strands of a tattered civil-rights coalition that had come apart from age and inner doubt.

It was this concern, and the record he built as 36th president, that was in the memories of many who mourned after hearing of Johnson's death Monday night.

The Rev. David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and Organizer of the Poor People's March in Washington during Johnson's administration, said "the nation, the world, black people and poor people in particular lost one of the greatest friends of democracy."

But, Abernathy went on, "I think his greatest contribution rests in ty fact that he could lift himself beyond the barrier of sectionalism, refusing to be a Southerner clinging to a dead and unjust society."

Thurgood Marshall could speak as one who knew firsthand of Johnson's commitment to blacks. Johnson named him the first black to serve as a justice on the Supreme Court. Marshall said:

"In his private and official acts, President Johnson will go down in history as the one president who did all in his power to promote humanitarianism—the egalitarian principle of the equality of man."

Heavy Air Strikes Flown Despite Rumors Of Peace

SAIGON (AP) — Despite reports of an impending ceasefire, U.S. bombers hammered North Vietnamese positions across South Vietnam with the heaviest strikes in five months today and Monday.

Military sources said it was part of a combined allied effort to minimize an expected Communist land grab.

U.S. fighter-bombers carried out 374 strikes and the big B52s added another 80 during the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today, U.S. officials said. It was the largest number of strikes since Aug. 22, when 375 were reported.

South Vietnamese military sources said captured Communist documents and reconnaissance indicated that enemy troops and supplies are moving from the Cambodian border southward along the Saigon River corridor toward Saigon.

The main staging area was said to be the Michelin rubber plantation, 40 miles northwest of the capital, where South Vietnamese forces suffered nearly 400 casualties in the past week.

Fighting was reported to have tapered off in the area, but field officers were anticipating renewed attacks.

Other North Vietnamese forces were said to be moving from the Cambodian and Laotian borders toward the major cities of Pleiku and Kontum in the central highlands.

More than half of the U.S. fighter-bomber strikes were in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, where Hanoi's troops are trying to hold on to a 10-mile strip of land below the demilitarized zone which they seized during the Communist offensive last summer.

Scattered fighting was reported across South Vietnam from the DMZ to the Mekong Delta. The Saigon command said the enemy launched 52 attacks during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today. Field reports said an enemy company tried to infiltrate a hamlet 20 miles northwest of Saigon but withdrew after a 30-minute fight with the local militia.

Blood Supply Should Be Community Concern

Blood supply in Pickaway County is not just a concern of the Red Cross. It is the concern of the entire community, according to C. P. Pfeleger, Blood Program Chairman.

"The Blood Program is coordinated for the community by the Red Cross, but without the participation of the citizens of Pickaway County, it cannot succeed," he added.

"In addition Pickaway County is part of a 23-county region, with Columbus the testing, processing, storage and distribution center. From that Center, 50 hospitals must be supplied with the blood needs for their patients every day of the year," he explained.

"It is easy for an individual in Pickaway County to think that his one pint of blood won't matter. But if just a few people from each county felt that way, the total collected in the region could decrease drastically, and the whole area would suffer. Most importantly, the people who need blood would suffer. And we can't let that happen." Mr. Pfeleger reminded area citizens that the next bloodmobile visit will be Thursday, Jan. 25 at Community United Methodist Church and urged that donors call 474-5736 for appointments.

Mansfield Girl Named Junior Miss

MT. VERNON, Ohio (AP)—May's a long way off, but Kathy Lynn Bosko, a 17-year-old student at Madison High School in Mansfield, has started preparing for a trip to Mobile, Ala., and the finals of the National Junior Miss competition.

She won the Ohio Junior Miss title here over the weekend in competition with 19 other girls.

She also won in the poise and appearance division in preliminary judging.

The state title won for her $1,500 in scholarships, clothes and other prizes, as well as the trip to Mobile for the National Junior Miss Pageant.

First runner up was Thilathy Kavouras, 17, of Middletown, who also took honors in the talent division during the first of two nights of preliminary judging.

Second runnerup was Susan Swies, 17, of Gahanna, Junior Miss of Columbus. She won a preliminary award in the youth fitness section.

Diane Smith, 17, of Cincinnati, took the poise and appearance division in one evening of judging and was third runnerup.

A double award winner was Karen Sue Weber of Piqua, the Miami County Junior Miss. She gained preliminary tops during one round in both youth fitness and scholaristic achievement.

A talent award winner during one of the two rounds was Cheryl Rutledge of Dayton.

Marti Driessnack of Dayton took the contest's friendship title.

Farm Bureau Membership Drive Starts

The Pickaway County Farm Bureau kicked off its 1973 membership campaign Monday.

Pickaway County is seeking a gain over last year's membership total of 524.

Leading the 1973 campaign will be membership co-chairman Mrs. Norman Wilson and Mrs. Ernest Enoch.

Each of the 86 Farm Bureaus is seeking to make a gain over last year. Total membership in the Ohio Farm Bureau for 1972 was 55,746 families. Farm Bureau is a voluntary farm organization whose purpose is to increase farm income and improve rural standards of living.

Holstein Group Holds Banquet

The District 5 Ohio Holstein Association held the annual banquet Saturday, at the Pickaway Arms Restaurant, Circleville.

President Carl Beery welcomed the members and introduced guests. Fairfield County's outstanding girl and boy, Sue Miller and Gary Hendershot, were recognized and presented gifts. Cal Wilcox, state secretary, told of upcoming events and reminded members that the membership drive is now on. Jim Lewis, well-known Holstein breeder, was the main speaker for the evening and gave a very enjoyable talk.

Election of officers for the coming year was held with the following results: Dewey Kennedy, president; Roger Schneider, vice-President; Mary Hines, secretary-Treasurer; Carl Beery, state director; Harold Cupp, district director; and Mary Ann Carter, news reporter.

Rhodes Real Estate License Object Of Investigation

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— State officials have promised to investigate reports that former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes and several Rhodes associates received real estate broker's licenses under unusual circumstances in the waning months of the Rhodes administration.

Rhodes denied any impropriety in the matter, noting, "My conduct has always been honorable...My actions, publicly or privately, are an open record and an open book."

Current State Commerce Department Director W. Dennis Shaul promised to investigate the reports, however, calling the situation "astonishing." The Ohio Real Estate Commission, which issues the licenses, is a part of the commerce department.

Rhodes' license was issued on Jan. 7, 1971, four days before he left office and only three days after he applied for the license, although state law calls for a 30-day waiting period.

Similar licenses were issued between Jan. 7-12 to former Commerce Department Director J. Gordon Peltier, former Development Department Director F.P. Neuen-schwander, then-gubernatorial aide Roy Martin and former Motor Vehicles

Registrar Fred Rice.

Although no test score sheet is in Rhodes file, the former governor said that he was administered a special oral examination in the governor's office before the license was issued.

He said three commission members were present for the examination, although only one, former Commission President John H. Pace, said he remembered the special test.

Paul J. Everson of Cleveland, still a member, said he wasn't present for any test, and former Commissioner P.G. Graves of Cincinnati said he couldn't remember being there. The commission's executive secretary, Vernon B. McMillen, also denied he was present at any such test.

Normally, the test is administered to scores of applicants at the same time, and McMillen said he knew of no case where an oral examination had been substituted for a written one.

But McMillen said that Neuen-schwander, Martin and Rice did take "special examinations" administered privately at the commission headquarters, while Peltier said he took the examination in his office by himself. Rhodes, who has headed the industrial development firm of James A.

Rhodes and Associates in Columbus since leaving office, said that he had not done any real estate brokerage business in the state since receiving the license.

Local Citizen Honored Today

Sterley Croman, Croman Farms and Hatchery, Route 4, was selected as WLW Radio Citizen of the Day for Saturday.

Croman is a life long resident of Pickaway County and just recently celebrated his 84th birthday. In 1968 he received the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce "Senior Citizen Award."

For many years the Croman Farm has been in the hatchery business. They were one of the first hatcheries in Ohio to sign a franchise with a nationally known poultry breeder. They have been a DeKalb franchise hatchery for nearly 20 years.

Croman has traveled widely and presently the farms and hatchery are being operated by his son and wife Mr. and Mrs. Forest Croman.
